CAVEMEN OUT FOR FIRST HOOP WIN OVER TORNADOES

Medford, Grants Pass Will Meet for Third Time in Paralysis Benefit Contest

Meeting for the third time this season, Medford high school's Black Tornadoes will pit their man-to-man defense against the zone system of Grants Pass on the Medford basketball court at 8 o'clock tonight.

Fifty per cent of the net proceeds from tonight's tilt, a regular Southern Oregon Conference game, will go to the national infantile paralysis fund. Coach Al Simpson of Medford estimated the amount the fund will receive at approximately $100.

Although the conference leading Medford quintet has twice defeated the Cavemen in games earlier in the season, it is expected they will face a little tougher opposition tonight. Grants Pass, slow getting started at the beginning of the season, has polished up its defense considerably in recent weeks and has shown a smoother functioning combination on the offense.

The Cavemen took a close 32-31 game from Klamath Falls Friday night, but came back Saturday to trounce the Pelicans, 28 to 18. The Black Tornadoes whipped Ashland, 44-29, in their last outing Friday night at Ashland.

Grants Pass' double victory at Klamath Falls over the weekend moved the Cavemen into third place in the conference standings and dropped the Pelicans to fourth.

A preliminary game at 6:30 p. m. between the Medford and Grants Pass reserves will precede the main encounter.

Club Owners Split On Naming Of New Pro Baseball Czar

New York, Jan. 30—(U.P.)—Opposition to the move to elect a new baseball commissioner at the major league meeting here this week-end was reported growing today as Edward G. Barrow eliminated himself as a candidate.

A split among club owners on whether the successor to the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis should come from baseball's ranks or some outside profession promised to delay action on filling the vacancy.

Most major league owners were said to be in favor of naming a man from their own ranks, but even they were divided on whether immediate action was necessary.

PROBE UNCOVERS BIG TIME HOOP GAMBLING PLOT

New York, Jan. 30—(U.P.)—A sweeping nationwide investigation of big time collegiate basketball appeared certain today following revelation five Brooklyn college players had admitted conspiring with gamblers to throw a game against Akron university at Boston tomorrow night for $3,000.

It was the first specific revelation any player actually had been involved in dealings with gamblers, although there have been persistent rumors for some time that bookmakers had been making "killings" on major collegiate games, here and in other large cities.

The players held for questioning by Assistant District Attorney Edward A. Heffernan of Kings county were Bernard Barnett, Bob Leder, the team captain, and his leading scorer, Larry Pearlstein, Jerry Green and Stanley Simon.

Heffernan said they would be used as material witnesses against the alleged gamblers. Harvey Stemmer and Henry Rosen, whom he said would be arraigned on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

BUREAU PRODUCES NEW MIRACLES OF TEST TUBE WORK

Washington, Jan. 30—(U.P.)—The agriculture department's scientific staff today revealed some new miracles of the test tube, including cotton that won't burn, medicine made from leaf tobacco, and a shoe dressing that prevents mildew and athlete's foot.

The discoveries, reported to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, are made available to the public after they are perfected.

Chemical Developed
Further experiments are necessary on a chemical which, when added to shoe dubbing, prevents athlete's foot and keeps shoes from mildewing. It was developed by the Bureau of Home Economics.

Industrial chemists, in cooperation with the army, developed an emulsion that makes cotton flame-proof through at least 12 washings, does not weaken the fiber, and increases its weather resistance.

Heat Resistant
The department says it already has a commercially practical heat-resistance varnish, called Alyl Starch, which has withstood 400 degrees of heat and can be applied to paper and metal as well as wood. The chemists also discovered Rutin, refined from flue-cured tobacco, is efficacious in the treatment of high blood pressure.

On the food front, the department has come up with a frozen fruit dessert—called Velva Fruit—that has the natural color and flavor of fresh fruit ingredients and the texture of ice cream. It can be made in the family ice-cream freezer or refrigerator.

RETIREMENT FUND FOR FIREMEN HAS HOUSE ATTENTION

Salem, Ore., Jan. 30—(U.P.)—A bill to establish compensation and retirement funds for volunteer and regular firemen was under consideration by the house today.

It would provide funds, through the collection of a percentage of fees paid on fire insurance premiums and individual contributions by subscribers, that would grant disability payments to firemen and benefits to widows and orphans.

There would be two such funds, one for volunteer firemen, the other for regulars. The "paid firemen" fund payments would be set up by a governing board in each county in line with money available, while the volunteer benefits were set in the bill. It was introduced by Rep. Earl Hill, Lane county, and Sen. Joel Booth, Linn county.

Parent Control Aim
Another bill introduced would make parents of delinquent children, who are found to have been negligent in their attention to such children, subject to a formal charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Other house bills introduced would provide:
That no state official, elected or appointed, shall receive a salary higher than the governor's.
Suspension of racing commissioners' salaries for the duration of the horseracing ban.

RUM COMMISSION POWER HIKE AIM

Salem, Ore., Jan. 30—(U.P.)—Three bills to grant larger powers to the state liquor control commission were introduced to the senate today.

One of the bills would grant the commission extended powers of limiting the brand and type of liquor sold to permit holders; another broadens the power to confiscate material in a place where liquor is being used unlawfully, and the third adds to and more clearly defines the list of such material to be declared a common nuisance.

Another bill would provide for the destroying of county papers of no value, and which at present are cluttering up files.

Another senate bill introduced today would establish protective areas along highways, beaches and state parks in certain instances. It was introduced by the highways committee by request.

Solon Stumps For 5,000 Plane World Air Peace Patrol

Washington, Jan. 30—(U.P.)—Rep. Karl Mundt, R., S. D., today called for postwar creation of a 5,000-plane "international peace patrol of the air" with power to strike at the military forces of any nation which might seek to disrupt the peace.

"An international peace patrol of the air, set in motion at the end of this war, can prevent our ever again being either participants or witnesses in another great war," Mundt said in a speech prepared for delivery in the house. "It can stop them at their source by driving warlike hordes back from their own boundary lines before the march of war gets underway."

A Penny's Worth of Transportation

Your travel penny buys far more comfort, safety and speed on Great Northern trains than it did during the first World War.

Among the reasons is Great Northern's tradition of constant improvement of tracks—heavier rail, elimination and reduction of curves, signal systems, stronger bridges and time-saving tunnels. Good equipment and better locomotives, too!

The teamwork of management, employes and machines is enabling Great Northern to meet wartime demands for passenger service. The same unbeatable combination will provide better service for the travel penny in the peacetime to come.
