HAS ANYONE SEEN EDDIE B. M'MAHAN, FORMER PRIVATE?

Where is Eddie B. McMahan, former private in Battery C, 19th Coast Artillery?

For the last 10 days mail for Pvt. McMahan has been coming to Box 489, Medford post office. The box is held by C. D. Colbaugh, 141 S. Holly — and Mr. Colbaugh never heard of Pvt. McMahan in his life.

The mystery of the missing private deeped today when the local draft board reported it had received notice of Pvt. McMahan's honorable discharge Jan. 13, 1945, from the army, sent from Dibble General Hospital, Auburn, Calif., giving the same address—Box 489, Medford.

It was the first time they had heard of him, too.

The notice shows McMahan enlisted in the army at Fort Logan, Colo., prior to September, 1940, when selective service came into existence.

Has anybody here seen Eddie?

MACKENZIE KING CALLS FOR TEST

Ottawa, Jan. 30—(U.P.)—Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King accepted the challenge of minority party opposition today and called the first general election since 1941 as a popular test of his wartime leadership.

Sens. James E. Murray, D., Mont., Carl A. Hayden, D., Ariz., and James G. Schrugham, D., Nev.—to provide that mine operators will not be required to operate property to hold it legally if they are unable to do so because of shortages of labor, power, equipment or because of government regulation.

The profile and arm of Judge Leo Cunningham frame the scene as he set bail at $500 each on the two complaints.

WALLACE BEGINS FIGHT TO GAIN COMMERCE POST

New York, Jan. 30 — (U.P.) — Henry Wallace opened his campaign today for popular support of his bid for the post of Secretary of Commerce and its present lending-spending powers with an appeal to the liberal forces that sw t President Roosevelt into office for a fourth term.

Wallace issued his first call against a sympathetic sounding board last night—a testimonial dinner given him by the union for democratic action, an organization of American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial organizations, labor leaders and a handful of industrialists headed by Bruce Blieven, liberal writer.

In a bombastic speech Wallace said his opponents were men "fighting against the survival of capitalism and free enterprise." He told the 1,450 guests at the dinner these men either support "policies which will make 60,000,000 jobs impossible, or wish to destroy all possibility of a progressive democratic party as a national force."

Heartened by a praiseful letter written by President Roosevelt to sponsors of the testimonial dinner five days before Wallace's nomination as secretary of commerce was sent to the senate, the former vice president interpolated his prepared speech to say he would decline the job if its spending powers were assigned to a "too-little and too-late man."
