TORNADOES SNOW UNDER CAVEMEN FOR 40-18 WIN

Medford Speed Stops Grants Pass Cold in Contest for Infantile Paralysis Fund.

A smooth-working Medford High School basketball squad ran over Grants Pass last night 40 to 18 in the Medford gym, taking the lead in the first few minutes of play and increasing it throughout the game.

Fifty per cent of the net proceeds of the game will go to the polio fund.

The Black Tornadoes broke through the Grants Pass zone defense almost at will, breaking fast from under their own basket and working the ball into shooting position time and again before the Cavemen could get their defense functioning.

Medford's man-for-man defense gave Grants Pass considerable trouble and as the game moved into the last half forced the Cavemen to resort to more and more long shots.

Riebel Sparks Cavemen

Riebel, Grants Pass guard, would have given the Tornadoes trouble had he been able to shake loose his man on offensive play. The rangy Caveman showed dead-eye tendencies when given a clear shot, sinking all of his three free throws for the evening and the one open shot he was able to get from scrimmage.

Teamwork play of Medford was outstanding as time and again members of the Tornadoe squad passed up a legitimate opportunity to shoot to flip the ball to a teammate in a little better position to score.

Grants Pass substituted freely, right from the start, but was unable to find a combination that could click against the speedy Tornadoes. The game was remarkably clean, most of the few fouls committed being offenses of accident rather than intent.

Tornadoes Rampant

Through the first quarter, the Tornadoes ran their opponents dizzy, running up a score of 9 to 2 for the first period. They slowed down somewhat during the second quarter, racking up only six points, while the Cavemen had their best inning, tallying seven, leaving the count 15 to 9 for Medford at the half.

The Tornadoes took the offensive again at the start of the second half and never stopped rolling, pouring through 25 tallies before the final gun, with Dick Fawcett, speedy Tornadoes guard, stealing the ball late in the third quarter and again early in the fourth to dribble the length of the floor, outdistancing the Cavemen guards, for push-in tallies.

He repeated the performance a third time at the end of the game but the final whistle sounded just before the ball left his hands for what would have been another field goal.

Honors Are Even

Scoring honors were divided up fairly evenly among the Tornadoes, Bob Watson, guard, racking up five field goals, Darrel Riggs, center, tallying four, and Larry Hayes, forward, scoring four and a free throw.

In the preliminary game, the Medford reserves took a close 22 to 19 encounter from the Grants Pass reserves.

The lead shifted back and forth throughout the game, with Medford leading at the quarter, the Cavemen at the half, and trading it back and forth throughout the last period. The Tornado reserves put on a spurt in the closing minhtes and ran the score from an 18-18 tie to the final 22-19.

Seventh Win

Last night's victory was Medford's seventh in conference play, leaving them still undefeated for the season.

GAMBLERS FACE TRIAL IN HOOP FIX CONSPIRACY

New York, Jan. 31 — (U.P.) — The Kings (Brooklyn) county grand jury today indicted Harvey Stemmer and Henry Rosen on a charge of conspiring to cheat and defraud in connection with a bribe paid five Brooklyn college basketball players to throw a game.

Both defendants pleaded innocent. They were held in $25,000 bail each pending trial, which was set by Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz for February 13.

$3,000 Promised

Stemmer and Rosen were accused of having given the five players $1,000 of a promised $3,000 bribe to throw a game with Akron which was to have been played at Boston tonight The game was cancelled when the bribe was disclosed.

In addition to the grand jury indictment, both men faced charges of bribery in felony court. Stemmer was arraigned on that charge yesterday and held in $2,500 bail for further hearing February 5.

Probe Ordered

The grand jury investigation was ordered by Leibowitz yesterday, less than 13 hours after the bribe—the biggest scandal ever to hit intercollegiate athletics—was disclosed.

Five players are involved—Capt. Bob Leder, Larry Pearlstein, Stanley Simon, Jerry Green and Buddy Barnett.

The grand jury concluded its inquiry late last night and handed up the indictment 12 hours later.

STRONG MAT CARD SET FOR ARMORY

Rough, tough and nasty Pete Belcastro and Terrible Tony Ross—he of the gentle disposition of a rattlesnake—will commit assorted mayhem on each other tomorrow night in Medford Armory wrestling ring.

Because of the insistance of the Gray Mask that he get the main event, in which the hooded mauler will meet Harold (Blood and Guts) Davidson, Promoter Mack Lillard was forced to place the Belcastro-Ross bout in the semi-windup spot, even though it is a main event calibre match.

The Mask-Davidson bout was arranged in response to Davidson's demands for a second go at the opponent who defeated him in a close—and slightly murderous—encounter last November.

The three round opener will see Georges Dusette, Canadian strong arm specialist, meeting Tarzan Potvin, for Dusette's maiden appearance in Oregon. The matches will start at 8:30 p. m.

PROSPECT TAKES ROGUES' MEASURE

Prospect high school squared the count with Rogue River last night in a nip and tuck hoop encounter, stopping the Rogues 16 to 13 in the final minutes of play.

In their first game of the season, the Rogues trampled Prospect 48 to 10.

Rogue River was handicapped in last night's contest by loss of their spark plug forward, Dimick, and a guard, McGregory who were in Portland, Ore., for pre-induction physical examinations.

Prospect led 9 to 5 at the half, and in the final period were ahead 14 to 10 in the last two minutes when Rogue River took advantage of three free tries to bring the count up to 14-13. In the last few seconds, Dolensheck, Prospect forward, broke loose to make his one field goal of the game, a lay-in shot from under the basket, to give Prospect a 16-13 victory.

In the preliminary game the Rogue River reserves stopped Prospect reserves 20 to 10.

ASHLAND JUNIORS TRAMPLE MEDFORD

Medford junior high went down before a sharpshooting Ashland junior high attack last night 33 to 21 in a southern Oregon junior high conference basketball game at Ashland.

Richardson, Ashland forward, was high scorer for the evening with 11 points while Y-Blood of Medford led his squad with seven tallies.

The score at the half was Ashland 19, Medford 15. The Medford club was holding Ashland fairly even at the start of the second period until Richardson broke loose four times in quick order to rack up eight of his 11 points.

The Ashland defense tightened up and Medford was able to tally only three field goals in the last period.

In the preliminary game, the Medford eighth grade team took its first conference licking of the season, dropping a 25 to 18 decision to the Ashland eighth grade.

The teams will meet again Tuesday in Medford.
