

SESSION GAINS HALFWAY MARK; EYE 345 BILLS

Session Mostly Serious; Pay Ends After Feb. 26; Much of Work in Committees.

Salem, Ore., Feb. 2 — (U.P.) — Today is the 26th day of the 43rd regular session of the Oregon legislature, and over half-way to the 50th day when the pay of the legislators stops. Yesterday was the last day when bills could be presented to the House by individual members. From now on they must have them approved by the Legislation and Rules committee, or introduced as committee bills by various groups. The senate, however, has no such rule, and its members may introduce bills up to the last day of the session, although if they do, they will more than likely be snowed under the accumulated mass of unfinished work.

345 Bills So Far
Only 345 bills had been introduced to both Houses up to noon yesterday, and it would appear that the total number of bills may not go above 700 or 800. While the members have their friveries and jokes and pet memorials and bills, the tone of the 1945 session has been serious, during its first four weeks. The legislators on the whole seem to feel that wartime is no time for fooling around, and are primarily engaged in passing only new measures which have been found necessary, administration bills needed for the smooth operation of state government, and bills correcting past mistakes. Navy Batters Japs in South China Sea

For the first time as task force of Admiral Halsey's Third Fleet entered the South China Sea to send this Japanese shipping reeling under the might of carrier-based aircraft. In this smashing action, 41 ships were sunk, with 28 enemy vessels damaged. The haul included a light cruiser, destroyer escorts, oilers and cargo ships as Navy planes sent their bombs into four convoys along the French Indo-China coast. U. S. Navy photo.

bers of the Oregon legislature stops on Monday, Feb. 26, and from then on they are on their own, financially.

While this would not bother many of the members, many others are making a real sacrifice to attend, and many are determined to have the work finished by the 50th day, or as soon as possible thereafter. It was only during the past week that either House has been in session more than an hour of half an hour or an hour each day, leading some spectators to believe that little was being accomplished.

Much of the work of the legislature, however, is done in committee meetings and informal groups.

Oregon U. Alumni Honor Congressmen At Annual Dinner
Washington, Feb. 2 — (U.P.) — Wayne L. Morse, newly-elected republican senator from Oregon, and three of the state's four House members were guests of honor last night at the annual dinner of the University of Oregon alumni. A pretty WAC presented Morse with a large box of oats as a gift for the senator's horse. The House members present, all republicans, were Harris Ellsworth, James W. Mott and Lowell Stockman. Edgar W. Smith, member of the Oregon Board of Higher Education, outlined a $5,000,000 two-year school building program planned for the state after the war. Closing time for Sunday Too Late to Classify 5:30 Saturday afternoon—Please remember
