Ye Smudge Pot
By Arthur Perry
Spring officially arrived Wed. but unofficially has not got here yet.

Congress will probe the meat and food shortages, in an effort to find out why the nation has run out of everything it always had too much of, and if same is due to some dreamy-eyed bureaucratic monkeying.

John C. Mann will get a birthday Wed.
The irrigation water worries of the horticulturists have been tamed somewhat by snow piling up on the high spots.

Royal and Bill of the E.P.T. Browns towed in mid-week.
Next Sunday is All Fooled Day. You can't fool all the people all the time, but it isn't necessary any more.

Historic events chase each other across the front pages. Germany is groggy, and Japan more so, and the first salmon of the year was ruthlessly yanked out of Rogue river the first of the week.

Ed Kubli, the Applegate cow man is himself again after busting a balky cold.
The Salem press holds Darrell Riggs, the B. Tornado center, and special peeve of a Klamath scribe, suffering from ingrown civic jealousy, should have been named all-state, at the basketball tournament.

S. Ganton Sherwood, the police clerk is out of the navy and running around the south in civilian duds.
Herb Hoover, the former president, has started writing prescriptions for eternal peace and lists seven vital points that have been overlooked.

The last legislature only concocted 800 new laws in 69 days. Moses, the greatest lawgiver of all time, could only think of ten.
Epicureans are regaling themselves on wild mushrooms, and so far none have turned out to be toadstools.

A number of unsightly and aged trees have been whacked down throughout the burg to improve the civic beauty. The ghastly stumps remaining don't help it any. The improvement is just like a man shaving off a full grown set of whiskers, and leaving a goatee.

Older Girls with new Easter bonnets, are praying for sunshine next Sun. and fear they will get it like they did snow for Christmas.

The chise acoustics are now on the verge of being perfect. When a lawyer yells at a jury learned counsel can't be heard more than 40 ft. with a cyclone in his favor.

SPECIAL TROOPS OF HITLER FAIL TO ALARM YANKS
With the Third U. S. Army in Rhine Bridgehead, March 24—(U.P.)—Doughboys in a German town across the Rhine pointed proudly today to a prisoner cage where 303 defeated supermen stood with their hands in the air while M.P.'s searched them.

PORTLAND LACKS SHIPS
Portland, Ore., March 24—(U.P.)—Protests against the lack of cargoes and ships for Portland were made to the war shipping administration as 110 Portland longshoremen left tonight for San Francisco.

BRITISH WARNED NAZIS WILL USE SYMPATHY DODGE

British 21st Army Group Headquarters, March 24—(U.P.)—Sir Bernard L. Montgomery sent his armies across the Rhine today with the warning that the Germans who won the peace after the last war were now "planning to make fools of you again."

In a letter to all his commands, Montgomery said the Germans would undertake a sweeping campaign to enlist sympathy in order to continue the fight and he warned his men that they must refrain entirely from fraternization in order to win both the war and the peace.

"The last time we won the war and let the peace slip through our hands and this time we must not ease off—we must win both the war and the peace," he said.

"You will have to remember that these same Germans are planning to make fools of you again and to escape the loathing which their actions deserve... our consciences are clear: 'non-fraternization' to us implies no revenge. We have no theory of master races. But a guilty nation must not only be convicted it must realize its guilt. Only then can the first steps be taken to re-educate it and to bring it back into the society of decent humanity."

EARLY INVASION OF JAPAN LOOMS ADM. M'CAIN SAYS

San Francisco, March 24—(U.P.)—Vice Adm. John S. McCain, back in the United States after commanding the 2d carrier task force, is confident that the invasion of the Japanese homeland will come "perhaps even sooner than expected," 12th naval district headquarters revealed today.

The navy disclosed that the admiral, whose carrier forces operated with Adm. William F. Halsey's 3d fleet from Nov. 1, 1944, to Jan. 26, was awarded the gold star in lieu of the second distinguished service medal here yesterday.

McCain's forces listed 2,962 Japanese planes destroyed or probably destroyed and 1,162,500 tons of enemy shipping sunk or damaged in the last three months under his command.

McCain said that complete blockading of the enemy home islands cannot be achieved until the allies are in possession of bases on the China coast. "To effectively stop traffic to the islands, a 24-hour patrol is necessary," he said.

INTERVENTION IN 72 HOURS DUE IN MINE WAGE FUSS

Washington, March 24—(U.P.)—Government intervention within 72 hours in the bitter soft coal wage contract controversy appeared likely tonight.

Whether that intervention would be seizure of the nation's bituminous mines or merely certification of the dispute to the war labor board, with a last-minute effort by that body to bring the disputants together, was not certain.

Even if the case first goes to the board, however, seizure was regarded widely as the only means of preventing a mine war stoppage when the current soft coal wage contract expires at midnight next Saturday.

The miners vote next Wednesday, under supervision of the national labor relations board, on whether they want to strike in support of their contract demands.

A definite indication of impending government action came today when Acting Director Howard T. Colvin of the U. S. conciliation service conferred for the first time with U. M. W. President John L. Lewis and Charles T. O'Neill, Altoona, Pa., a leader of the operators' negotiating committee.

Concert Season Closed Here By Ballad Singers

(By Mrs. E. E. Gore)
Presentation of the American Ballad Singers by the Jackson County Civic Music association at the high school auditorium Thursday evening brought to a close its highly successful 1945 series of concerts.

The organization and training of these vocalists is definitely and distinctively unique. They seek to present typical folk lore and fable of our country from the Revolutionary period down to the present day, thus omitting earlier music that is a generous part of our musical heritage. Notwithstanding these imposed limitations, a gay evening of hilarious entertainment followed.

Arranged in accepted, but flexible "sonata form", under the captions, "Early American Music", "The Melting Pot", "American Legends" and "Folk Songs of Today", the first section of the program was reminiscent of early pioneer life in the colonies and the songs were in the mood of patriotism, love-making, glorification of the sea and children playing in unconscious freedom. The emotional temperament of the American negro, the Scotch, the Creole, the German, Irish, all seekers for freedom and opportunity in a new world were characteristic of the second group. Discussion of the ironical humor of such music should be left to the antiquarian and moralist rather than to a cheerful mixed audience seeking fun and entertainment.

Coming down to "Paul Bunyan", "The Lincoln Penny" and our all but defiled "Douglas MacArthur", the singers really began to come home. One encore was given and two members of the company served as capable accompanists as required.

The difficulties of making such music programmatic in appeal were skillfully and smoothly worked out by this talented ensemble. It will take many program notes, the writing of many books, the playing and singing of music, much "tuning of many songs" to give a complete picture of the development and growth of music America, but to at least one listener, the distinct lack expressed in the program was that at least one of the extraordinarily beautiful, resonant, peacans of praise that we are still Americans was not the emotional climax of a program of American folk music.

Singing in Los Angeles Wednesday and in Seattle Saturday and giving Medford a concert en route adds up to a strenuous circuit. Their comment on our disgraceful and inadequate transportation facilities was "We like to come but it's surely difficult to get in and out."

Each of the five numbers of the concert series provided an outstanding pleasure for individual members of the association, while many were enthusiastic in praise of each one and enjoyed all.
