

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS LENTEN SERIES SERMON

The largest audience of the Lenten series was present last night at the First Presbyterian Church to hear Dr. Russell V. DeLong speak on "What are we Fighting For?" Special honor was accorded war mothers present. The speaker emphasized the Four Freedoms as worthy objectives of this war. "We are not fighting because we hate Hitler," he said, "but because we believe in something positive, namely, the freedom of the whole world from fear, from want and the right to a free press and unfettered speech and in particular the freedom of worship."

Dr. DeLong pointed out some strange paradoxes in American life: "We revere the constitution but few of us have read it; we would fight for the Bible, yet very few of us read it daily; we thrill to the 'Star Spangled Banner,' and scarcely anyone can quote the four stanzas. But the oddest paradox of all is that we will give our lives to insure freedom of worship and yet do not exercise that freedom.

"If freedom of worship is worth fighting and dying for it is worth living for," he declared. The all-city choir was led by John Eby.

Tonight the Lenten service will be held at the First Methodist Church, Main and Laurel streets, Dr. Louis C. Kirby, pastor.

A youth rally will be held Friday at the First Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m.

Talent Service Service Planned By Young People

Talent, March 29.—The ninth annual Easter Sunrise service sponsored by the young people of the Methodist church of Talent, will this year be open to all people of the community who care to attend. Those who wish to participate will meet at the church at 6:45 a. m. and continue from there to Beeson Lane where the service will be held.

Rev. Cox will deliver the address and group singing will be led by Moxie Furrer on her accordion.

Following the service the

Oklahoma Aggies Meet DePaul For Mythical Crown

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma A & M's new N.C.A.A. basketball champions said today he would rely on his recently-devised "cup defense" to stop George Mikan and DePaul's Blue Demons in tonight's Red Cross game for the mythical national title.

Iba, explaining his "cup defense" which revolves around seven-foot Center Bob Kurland, said that it worked excellently against New York University in Tuesday's victory which gave the Aggies the N.C.A.A. title.

Mr. R. W. Ruhl, Editor
MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE
Medford, Oregon

Dear Mr. Ruhl:

We thought you would like to know that The Oregonian, through TIME and other national magazines, is continuing to tell America about Oregon. People like you and communities like yours have made Oregon what it is today. Because there is a bond of common understanding throughout this whole area, because our communities pull together for the good of all, because there is such an outstanding story to tell about Oregon, we have felt inspired to put forth our best effort as a voice for this great region.

Since your community is planning for expansion after the war, you will be interested in the theme of our latest advertisement reproduced here.

Sincerely yours,
Palmer Hoyt.

... proud of its War Record looks with confidence to the future

OREGON is looking ahead confidently—and with sound reason: the Oregon market is one hundred thousand richly endowed square miles populated with a million-and-a-third ambitious people. It is not a one-city, one-industry, one-resource, war-born market.

Our shipyards have repeatedly set world records—for speed in shipbuilding, for lowest over-all costs, for fewest man-hours per ship. The thousands of newcomers who have helped us to set these records are the finest type of citizens an industrially growing area could ask for and 25% are skilled workers. Many have already invested in Oregon homes and farms.

With the war-born combination of management, competent labor, established plants and unlimited electric power, Oregon yards will be robust competitors under peacetime conditions in shipbuilding and other lines.

Our luscious timber industry (1/3 of all the standing timber in U.S.) needs no reconversion, and the day after victory will be booming with peacetime production.

The harnessing of the Columbia River gave us the greatest hydro-electric potential in the nation. Using that power, new industry grew rapidly... utilizing our natural resources of fish, minerals and wood. These industries were built and planned for expansion.

Diversified farming is a two-hundred million, year-round industry in Oregon. Food processing, the perfect economy linking factory and farm, is showing remarkable expansion.

Oregon is growing solidly and rapidly—because Oregon wants to grow, has the room in which to grow—and has the basic resources with which to grow.
