The question of votes, and what nation will get them, at the World Security Assembly in San Francisco, is now in a glorious state of confusion. However, there is no argument over what nation will pay the hall rent and furnish the whiskey and grub, for a lengthy series of banquets.

Spring is still tardy hereabouts, and there is some concern about its whereabouts, and official arrival. Spring will be activated here, when the mercury suddenly jumps to 78 and juvenile autoists start speeding that fast. People can rest assured Spring will eventually get here, if it takes all summer.

A medical authority reports drinking causes enlargement of the Adam's apple of the fair sex. This will probably cause them to paint the throat knob the same color as their fingernails, to make it look smaller.

The senate is now investigating the sale of horsemeat for beef, with steers so plentiful on the range they are dying of old age. The slaughter of Dobbin, has doubled the past two years, the department of agriculture reports. If this keeps up, the trend back to the "horse & buggy" days, and the lack of horses will result in the motive power for the trip being supplied by ox-team.

Slave labor from occupied lands sent to Germany and freed by the advance of allied armies are now having their day. So far this week, three Gestapo monsters, on the British list of war criminals, have been scratched off by bullets in mysterious and murderous proceedings.

"Two gorgeous babes want fun, apt on east side. Will drink a cocktail or smoke a cigarette on occasion. Pay up to $50 per month. Box 284, Oregonian." (Want Ad, Oregonian)—Refuge from the "wolves."

What appear to be new autos are showing up on the indigenous highways an! byways. New or just washed and re-painted, they make the veteran mechanic messes clattering up the thoroughfares, nine times their age.

Benny Harell, an army colonel with duty in Africa, Sicily, Italy and Europe behind him, and former B. Tornado halfback—and what a halfback!—visited his boys and other folks here this week. In Italy, Gordon Warner crawled out of a ditch to shake hands with his former football idol, Sam Richardson, another local boy, also returned from England, to look over the valley and old vistas.

The acoustics of the ethe have been improved no end. The roar of a lawyer at the jury no longer sounds like the elements have been unleashed.

UPSTATE CUSTOM
On former trips to Oregon, I used to laugh and joke At washings hanging on the porch
Of city and of country folk.

How very strange it seemed to me,
When I would visit you,
To grope through dangling arms and legs,
Before I'd say "hello."
But now my home's in Oregon
I often wish that I,
(Like neighbors up and down the road)
Could hang mine on the porch to dry.

Letter From Washington

By HARRIS ELLSWORTH
Member of Congress From Oregon

HOUSE IN RECESS. April 10 will bring to an end the present series of three-day recesses for the house, which began March 28. The house will then take up further appropriation measures reported from committee, extension of the Reciprocity Trade Agreement, renegotiation of contracts, the Bretton Woods Agreement, and federal aid to education legislation, which has been pending for several months. Marines before house committees will be started or resumed on the above measures, beginning about April 11, and some of these bills will begin to reach the House for debate probably about the first of May.

The Senate has continued its regular sessions to bring its calendar up to date and there is some talk that the senate may recess during the San Francisco United Nations Conference.

News Behind The News
By Paul Mallon

Washington, April 5 — The diplomatic news is warming up to the pitch of pressure politics before the war.

The British press started a few days back to murmur that the British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden might not come to San Francisco either. At the same time the Russian dispatches told of the reception given Mrs. Churchill in Moscow.

These two public events were read with more significance than the public may have attached to them, by those who have heard inside the senate for some weeks that the British were inclining more and more to the Russian viewpoint.

THE trip of Bernard Baruch to London, as a special presidential emissary on some undisclosed mission, has inspired new talk that Mr. Roosevelt is trying to draw the British back into line.

The plain fact behind the matter is that the whole pretentious concept of our idealism for postwar continues to break up, knick by knick, upon the rocks of solid earth. These recent international developments are leading us into the same old pressure game, and we look rather weak at it. Yet we thought we held the big chips—food and money.

We financed the war and are practically proposing to finance the peace. Everyone should be coming to us, yet we do not seem to be getting our way in anything. We are holding a party at which the honor guests are sending regrets.

WHAT Russia is up to at any time is always a censored guess. Complete bafflement is an essential quality of her diplomacy. But behind her uncooperative play is the strength of her position. Possession is nine tenths of any law anywhere and a glance at any war map shows the world what she has in Europe. Hers are blue chips.

THE British ostensibly are in a weak position, but they are always winning from weak positions. They are accustomed from long experience to follow a balance of power policy, playing one side against another and back again.

What they both knew was that Mr. Roosevelt wanted a certain kind of world peace and they also knew they could make

JACKSON COUNTY FARM NOTES

Compiled by County Office O. S. C. Extension Service

Oregon Hybrid Wins Corn Yield Tests
Oregon hybrid No. 525 continues to be the highest yielding among all field corn varieties at the central experiment station at Oregon State College, according to latest figures compiled by Dr. R. E. Fore in charge of corn breeding and production work for the farm crops department.

This hybrid, obtained first from Wisconsin, is now known as Oregon 525 because the seed is produced in this state. Several tests, the latest made last season, show there is no significant difference in yield whether the seed is grown in Wisconsin or Oregon.

For western Oregon hill lands, such as predominate in Clackamas county, Oregon hybrid 355 has given the best yields. For the warmer sections of the state with longer seasons, such as southern Oregon, Oregon hybrid 695 is a later maturing variety which gives heaviest yields under those conditions.

Following are the average yields for seven years at Corvallis for the three leading hybrids and the leading open pollinated variety, Minnesota 13; Oregon 525, 55.2 bu. per acre; Oregon 570, 54.8 bu.; Oregon 355, 44.8 bu.; Minn. 13, 44.5 bu. A three-year average is now available for Oregon 100, a new hybrid actually developed at the Oregon station. It is now the earliest maturing hybrid available for this region, says Dr. Fore, and is proving popular with growers who desire extra early maturity. Its three-year average yield at Corvallis is 50.6 bushels.

Last year's tests on seed source showed that Oregon grown seed of hybrid 525 yielded 61.4 bu. per acre compared with 60.8 bushels from seed obtained in Wisconsin. Other hybrids showed similar variations one way or the other so slight as to be not significant. Minnesota 13 seed from Washington county, however, produced 49 bushels per acre compared with only 38.8 bushels from Idaho seed of the same variety.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
America and her "Underground"

We were sitting around after chores the other night talking about the progress of the war. Chad Davis was saying how, in spite of Germany's defeat, there was still the German underground to cope with. "I don't worry about them," says Sober Hoskins. "So long as we got our own underground in working order." "What do you mean—our underground?" says Chad. And Sober points out to the fields. "There it is," he says, "under that soil lie the most important weapon that we've got. American crops—from American fields—strengthening our position overseas in a way no other underground can shake."

TROLLEY ROMEO GETS 30 YEARS IN SAN QUENTIN

San Francisco, April 5.—(U.P.)—Francis Van Wie, 58-year-old street car conductor and ex-convict tamer and husband of 13 wives today was sentenced to 30 years in the exclusively male environment of San Quentin prison.

Van Wie, balding "ding dong daddy" of the carlines was sentenced to three consecutive terms "not to exceed 10 years" by Superior Judge Herbert Kaufman after a stern oration from the bench on the evils of multiple marriage. He was also fined $3 to conform to a statutory provision of the penal code.

New Trial Denied
Kaufman, indignantly denying motions by Attorney James Toner for a new trial and for probation said that Van Wie's prior record "discloses many other marriages in addition to the four that were involved during his trial."

"Our civilization, our government and our homes are founded on the sanctity of marriage and the preservation of the institution of marriage," Kaufman said. "Plural bigamous marriages are condemned by all modern societies and by our law and are destructive of the home and good morals."

IT'S VITALLY IMPORTANT TO KEEP PROPER IRON LEVEL IN THE BLOOD

One-ounce dish of KELLOGG'S All-Bran gives over 1/3rd your daily minimum iron needs

EVERYONE, young or old, needs iron constantly to help keep up the "iron level" in the blood—to help keep vitality up to par.

The best place to get iron is in foods. But—there are only a few foods that have a significant amount of iron. Thus, your diet can be lacking in iron without your knowing it—and your "iron level" may decline.

Fortunately, there is one everyday breakfast cereal that is a rich, inexpensive source of readily assimilable iron. It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, which actually gives you more available iron than spinach. And, in addition to iron richness, this nut-brown, crunchy breakfast cereal is an important natural source of calcium, phosphorus, and vitamins B, B, and niacin. That's because ALL-BRAN, produced by Kellogg's in Battle Creek, is made from the vital outer layers of finest wheat.

KELLOGG'S All-Bran is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat
You know that the skin of a potato and the peel of an apple are richest in vitamins and minerals. In the vital outer layers of wheat, too, Nature stores some of the grain's most important nutrients. ALL-BRAN is made of these vital outer layers and is more abundant in many food elements than whole wheat itself.

America's Great Regulating Cereal
And, in addition to being a storehouse of iron and other important elements, famous KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is Nature's great REGULATING CEREAL. Millions eat it regularly. It's America's most widely used regulating FOOD. Just a one-ounce serving eaten daily is usually adequate for satisfactory laxation. ALL-BRAN does not interfere with normal digestion. It is triple-milled for golden softness.

DONOR OF 7 PINTS OF BLOOD
MORE BLOOD DONATIONS NEEDED NOW
Miss Edith Jane Meyer, 835 Trinity Ave., Bronx, N. Y., gave her first pint of blood on her 21st birthday, two years ago. To date, she has donated 7 pints. Other patriots are urged to donate blood for urgently needed plasma. Fluid part of the blood is restored in a few hours. Maintaining the body's proper "iron level" helps to rebuild the red corpuscles.
