

TRADE CLASSES DISPLAY TALENT AT HIGH SCHOOL

Future Craftsmen Club and Day Trading classes of Medford high school held "Open House Tonight" at the high school building Friday night. About 250 attended the program, which was in cooperation with the State Board for Vocational Education.

Apprentice cards were awarded to LeRoy Price, upholstery trade, employed at Kerr's Upholstery Shop; Herbert Rivers, radio repair, employed by Phillips Radio Service; Don Kilgore, meat cutting, employed at Quality Market; Sid Lageson, wholesale hardware, employed by Lorenz Co.; and Carl Borb, carpentry, employed by C. E. Borg, contractor. Stanley Jones, chairman of the apprentice committee, presented the cards.

Safety poster prizes were won by Bob Robinson, first; Don Williams, second, and Kenneth Knockstedt and Earl Imhausen tied for third. Awards were made by E. H. Thomas, of the State Industrial Accident commission.

The Future Craftsmen club was first organized in Medford high school in 1932. Membership in the club is open to all boys of the part-time cooperative group, boys who go to school part-time and work on the job afternoons or after school, also boys in the day trade, carpentry class and sheet metal classes.

One of the prime purposes of the Future Craftsmen club is to have an organized outlet for extra-curricular activities in which all trade boys may take part.

In 1941 members of the local apprenticeship commission purchased a cup to be awarded annually to the outstanding Future Craftsmen at commencement time. Members of the local apprenticeship commission are Stanley C. Jones, chairman; Charlie Adams, Maynard Bush, Harvey Fields, William J. Hammett and E. H. Thomas.
