

CATTLE FEEDERS PAYMENT SUBSIDY ANNOUNCED SOON

Washington, May 23—(U.P.)—The War Food Administration soon will announce plans for the payment of the new $35,000,000 government subsidy to cattle feeders, officials said today.

The subsidy will come out of Commodity Credit Corp. funds and will be paid through local agricultural agency committees upon presentation of sales receipts by cattlemen. Both AAA and CCC are WFA agencies.

The feeder subsidy was announced by War Mobilization Director Fred M. Vinson last week as part of a revised meat program intended to increase production and get better distribution of civilian supplies. It became effective May 19.

A payment of 50 cents per 100 pounds will be made to stockmen upon the sale of good and choice cattle, except bulls, weighing 800 pounds or more. The subsidy is the first government payment to be made directly to the livestock producers and is designed to encourage movement of cattle into feed lots for fattening to heavier weights and better quality.

Payment machinery will be patterned along the same general lines of the present subsidy to dairy farmers on sales of milk and butter fats. Farmers may present their sales certificates to AAA officers any time after the first of the month and collect payment on sales made during the preceding month.

Wall Street

New York, May 23—(U.P.)—Sizeable profit-taking cut stock prices fractions to more than a point today in forenoon trading. Activity, however, continued light.

The downward movement was attributed in Wall Street largely to the recent period of strength and also, to a lesser degree, to caution pending further domestic developments along the reconversion front.

BONDED WHISKEY SHORTAGE ACUTE THRUOUT NATION

By United Press

The nation's liquor dealers reported an increasingly short supply of better-grade liquors today, with the situation destined to become worse before getting any better.

And it will be a particularly long time between drinks for the man who insists on bonded whiskey, the dispensers agreed.

In liquor stores and nightclubs throughout the country the situation appeared much the same: an acute shortage of bonded whiskey, very little of the good blended brands, some gin but plenty of rum, wines and beer.

Despite short supplies of bonded and straight whiskies, the Office of Price Administration contended that the liquor black market had attained only limited proportions.

It recognized, however, that many retailers had adopted a practice of holding out the choice brands for customers of long-standing.
