Barking Bedlam
To the editor: I would like to bring to the attention of your readers, a subject that is vitally important to the growth of Medford and the peace and happiness of its citizens.
I refer to the hundreds of barking dogs we seem to possess and the hundreds of dog owners who do not seem to realize that such goings on are only to be normally found in an Indian encampment or a Mexican slum village. At any time of the day or night almost anywhere outside the immediate downtown area several dogs can be heard barking or howling. In some sections it is almost a bedlam. An owner who permits his dog to do this in the daytime disturbs the peace of the home and one who permits it at night disturbs the peace and sleep of his neighbor. And seriously reduces working efficiency. In many cases actual break-down of health is caused by this constant racket.
I am very fond of dogs myself, and have raised and trained dogs all my life. I would not be without one. But I would as soon beat a dishpan in front of my neighbor's house as to permit my dog to bark and howl. I have never owned a barking dog for the simple reason that I had consideration for the peace of my neighbors and trained them to act as a dog should. I would be glad to offer my services to any person who would like to have their dog broken of this habit. It is very simple. Or could we form an anti-dog barking club to function somewhat as does our Chamber of Commerce.
When one leaves San Antonio,

Texas, after a visit one has long lingering memories of cooing turtle doves, from Los Angeles the mocking birds, from San Francisco the fog horns, and from Medford the bedlam of barking dogs. This is not a very nice situation and is a direct reflection on we who live here. Cannot something be done about it?
Yours for peace and quiet,
FRANCIS H. AMES
