COME, COME, CHILDREN, IT'S TIME WE ALL GREW UP

A week or two before the president's death I prepared for publication in my column an article on cerebral hemorrhage, in which I explained, as firmly and gently as possible, that "any one who is or thinks he is subject to very high blood pressure (100 or over) owes it to himself (or herself) to have a physician examine the retina at least once a year for signs of minute hemorrhages from the arterioles which are visible through the retinoscope"

—the gadget the doctor uses to peer into the interior of the eye. The retina is the sensitive film at the back of the eye, and with such an instrument, called retinoscope or ophthalmoscope, the physician can see not only the optic nerve but the minute blood vessels which show sclerosis or hardening long before hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis) can be diagnosed by ordinary physical examination.

The article was promptly rejected. Editorial advisers who know from long experience what readers want, and to whose judgment even this bull in the china shop has learned to defer, feared the article might frighten too many readers who have or imagine they have high blood pressure.

But upon the president's sudden passing came editorial telegrams asking for an article on cerebral hemorrhage! I felt little interest in the subject then, but I dug up the carbon copy for the rejected article and re-submitted it. How many papers printed it I don't know. How many readers were frightened by it I don't know. I know only that, so far, nobody has told me he or she derived any benefit or help from the article. Two correspondents have told me it frightened them or someone in the family.

This is painful and discouraging to me. I could file Mrs. L. F. C.'s complaint away and slip out the garden gate and through the patio between my playground and the studio, to forget this and other worldly cares for an afternoon on the bowling green—God bless the loafer who invented lawn bowling—but I know too well how it will haunt me indefinitely. There are a dozen sins I could commit without overburdening my conscience, but the thought of this mother being scared sick by my singular lack of sympathy, as I happened to catch the poor soul at a time when her daughter was not there to protect her, that I can't dispel. It seems to show that the I. Q. of the general reading public is still childlike, so far as physiology, hygiene, sanitation and health are concerned.

My husband has duodenal ulcer and is of very nervous type. He, very thin, always rushing around in a hurry, is impatient of little delays. (Mrs. T. H.) Answer—Rums was not built in a day, but if you will provide a stamped self-addressed envelope and a negotiable dime (that is, a clean one, not pasted, glued, stapled, sewed up, smeared with gum, adhesive etc.) I'll send you the booklet "So You Have Indigestion" which gives suggestions for menus for the patient, for the rest of the family, and simple remedies. Changing the man's character or constitutional make-up or temperament is not so easy.

Blackheads and Pimples My daughter, 16, is unhappy because she has so many blackheads and pimples. Blood purifiers have had no effect for the patient, for the rest of the family, and simple remedies. Changing the man's character or constitutional make-up or temperament is not so easy.

Answer—That was silly—trying "blood purifiers"—whatever they may be. Send stamped self-addressed envelope for pamphlet "Blackheads and Pimples." (Copyright 1945 by John F. Dille Co.)

News of 4-H CLUBS Shady Cove 4-H Club met June 18, at the R. G. Holcomb Ranch for a picnic. Members started a rug project and were given a lesson in outdoor cooking. Later they played table tennis and baseball.
