

Silver Dollar, Al Piche Clash For Second Place

GAMES TONIGHT
Silver Dollar vs. Al Piche.
Jennings vs. Junior Chamber.

One team will be moved out of the three-way tie for second place in the city softball league tonight when Silver Dollar Grill faces Al Piche's team in the 7:45 opener of tonight's double-header at the high school park.

Silver Dollar and Piche are tied with Ordinance Shop at one win and one defeat and from past results appear to be evenly matched. Both have beaten the Junior Chamber of Commerce and each has been licked by the powerful Jennings Tire gang.

In the other half of the dual program Jennings, tied with Camp White for top place in the league, will oppose Junior Chamber. The JayCees have a firm grip on the cellar position, but are due for a big evening and could knock over the high-flying tiremen.

The game between Littrell Parts and State Guard, which was postponed June 15 when the lights went out in the third inning with Littrell's leading, 4 to 0, will be played off at the high school baseball diamond tomorrow night, beginning at 7:30. League President Bob Ebel said there will be no admission charge for the play-off game.

MAJOR ALL-STAR GAME MAY GO TO EUROPE THEATER

Paris, June 26 — (U.P.) — There was mounting evidence today that the annual American major league all-star game may be brought to the European theater by air transportation to be played before more than 100,000 service men.

Col. Kenneth E. Field of Boston, director of the European theater athletic program, said in revealing a huge slate of sports for war-weary G.I.'s that Frank McCormick of Minneapolis, the former director, had gone to the United States in an attempt to get the all-star baseball game transferred to Europe.

Because of the increased rail transportation burden in the States, the all-star game, scheduled for Boston on July 9, was cancelled. However, because of the open dates on the schedules at that time, it was pointed out that the players could be flown overseas to the game, and returned shortly afterward to their teams without missing any games.

The game would be played in Germany's Nuernberg Nazi party stadium, which has a seating capacity of more than 100,000.

PORTLAND MOVES TO SACRAMENTO; OAKS TO TRAVEL

By United Press
The Pacific Coast league's 1945 baseball campaign neared the halfway mark Tuesday with the Portland Beavers still well up in front.

This week the Beavers travel to Sacramento to open a seven-game series tonight. They may be riding for a fall. The fourth place Solons just finished knocking off Seattle, runner-up club in the league standings, twice Sunday, and are out for blood.

There is plenty of room for major changes in the standings of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth place clubs. Only three games separates sixth place San Diego from the third place Seals.

In between are Oakland and Sacramento, tied for fourth at a game behind San Francisco, closely pressed by Los Angeles, a game-and-a-half behind the Seals.

The cellar-dwelling Hollywood Stars, under new management, paradoxically may turn out to be rough hosts to Oakland, and it may not be all beer and skittles for the Rainiers at San Diego.

The Los Angeles Angels make their first appearance of the season at San Francisco in what promises to be one of the liveliest series of the week.

MAURIELLO HALTS COSMIC LOU NOVA

Boston, June 26 — (U.P.) — Tami Mauriello of New York wondered today whether he had delivered the blow to end the career of California Heavyweight Lou Nova, whom he knocked out in one round last night.

Just after the opening bell, Mauriello hit Nova, the 35-year-old Van Nuys, Calif., exponent of the cosmic punch, above the left eye with a left hook, sending him down for an eight count. When Nova arose an old wound above his eyebrow was bleeding profusely.

Nova, hanging on gamely, pawed at Mauriello but failed to deliver a solid blow. Tubby Tami continued to be the aggressor, wading in with both fists. Finally he hit Nova with a pair of slapping lefts and followed with the knockout punch, a looping right hand that caught Nova on the jaw.

Mauriello weighed 197 pounds, Nova 203.

Chungking, June 26 — (U.P.) — An outbreak of cholera reached epidemic proportions in Chungking today, with a total of 4,000 cases reported in the city since June 7. Approximately 800, or 20 per cent, have been fatal.

All sections of the city were placed out of bounds for American personnel.

WOMEN OF ITALY STILL BEAUTIFUL DESPITE HARDSHIP

By Robert Meyer
(United Press Correspondent)
Rome, (U.P.) — The Italian women still manage to look beautiful after years of war and hardship, but that's about the only pleasant thing in the outlook for Italy today.

In a country that has been wracked by war, military occupation, hunger and shortages, it is amazing that the women of Italy still are lovely to look at. But they are. They're tanned and appear healthy. They wear charming clothes that usually are improvised from leftover curtains and odd goods.

Sandals in Style
Most of them wear sloppy sandals for walking — the kind American girls would slip on in the shower or at the beach.

Generally, the Italian girls are pretty slick chicks, and dressed up a bit they'd draw glances on New York's Fifth avenue.

But aside from that, Italy is still in pretty bad shape. Supposing you're the head of a family of four living in Rome.

You wake up in the morning, probably well-bitten by bedbugs, dress in an ordinary suit that cost you $300, shoes that cost $50, and a necktie that set you back $8. Your wife puts on a dress made by sewing two large silk bandannas together.

Eggs Costly
If you want eggs for breakfast, they'll cost you 24 cents each on the black market. They're not to be had on the official market.

If you're eating breakfast you probably have a job, so you go to work feeling fortunate, because many are unemployed here.

Your wife sets out for the black markets, which flourish openly in the streets. There she finds bread for $1.43 a kilogram (about 2¼ pounds); beef for $8.50; cheese, $7.50; fats, $4.30; sugar, $12; tomato ketchup, $3.60, and salt, 70 cents.

At that rate, on the basis of 2,000 calories a day per person, your food bills would run to almost $500 a month. But you don't make that much, so you eat less.

Official Prices Less
Prices on the official market are much lower. Sugar, for example, is only 20 cents a kilogram there. But even necessities are often scarce there.

The worst worry of all is how your family is going to weather the coming winter. Allied military government officials see tough months ahead in the coal and food supply outlook.

Although sunny Italy has a climate much like that of Miami Beach, it got bitterly cold last winter. Blue marks of chilblains still blanch the tanned legs of many Italian women.

INFANTS STRICKEN
New York, June 26 — (U.P.) — Nurseries at the Misericordia hospital were closed today after the Department of Health announced an outbreak of diarrhea had killed seven of 31 infants there.
