National, State Officers In City For League Meet

For an exchange of ideas and solutions to problems, board members of the Jackson County League of Women Voters met Thursday of last week with Miss Olive McKay, Washington, D. C., national organization secretary of the league, and Mrs. John Stark Evans, Portland, Oregon president. Miss McKay is on a tour of western local and state leagues.

Miss McKay told of the projects and ideas now in use by various leagues she has visited and Mrs. Evans outlined some of the projects which the Oregon league will undertake this coming year and stated that her chief interest would be in the expansion and strengthening of local Oregon leagues.

The two women spoke at a meeting which followed luncheon at the home of Mrs. Leonard Carpenter, Veritas Orchard. It was brought out that the national league is now primarily concerned with the problems of international peace and with various phases of the war-time food problem. The league worked to bring public understanding of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals and will now aid with the interpretation of the charter drawn at San Francisco, it was stated. With this end in view, speakers will be brought to Medford by the local league.

On the food project, the league has worked for understanding of the problems of food distribution in the war-time and has cooperated both locally and nationally with OPA in the belief that food prices must be controlled if inflation is to be prevented, according to statements made at the meeting.

Present at the luncheon meeting were Mrs. Justin Smith, president, Mrs. Stephen Nye, Jr., Mrs. Alden Boese, Mrs. Walter Inch, Miss Faye Woolsey, Mrs. L. G. Lyman, Mrs. Paul Janney, Mrs. A. W.
