

POWER PRODUCTS NOW ON DISPLAY

Now on display at the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, 123 W. Main street, is an exhibit of manufactured products arranged by the Bonneville power administration and open to the public all day today and Saturday.

Valley residents interested in mining and who are meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tonight to organize a local chapter of the Western Mining Council, have been invited to examine the display then. Others will be welcome, it is stated by Dan A. Johnson, in charge, and Merle P. Bailey, industrial engineer from Eugene.

The display was arranged to show small businessmen working under war contracts the type of line hardware and allied products which will be needed in post-war northwest industrial expansion.
