

POWER SAW RATE INCREASE IS UP TO NLRB VERDICT

Portland, Ore., July 19—(U.P.) A six-man unit of the National Labor Relations board today was preparing a decision, to be announced later this week, after conducting a hearing here on disputes between seven logging firms and their workers over a proposed power saw rate increase.

With employers' representatives holding that a power saw rate increase by the West Coast Lumber commission is "not permissible under the wage and stabilization act, union representatives countered with the statement that the previous rate "has interfered with war production." They seek NWLB's endorsement of 35 cents per hour for power saw fallers and buckers, previously granted by the commission.

Power Saw Problem
K. M. Davis, representing the Northwest Council of Lumber and Sawmill Workers, AFL, termed the power saw operation a "rare and unusual problem," due, he said to wages being unknowingly frozen too low by the stabilization act.

Davis declared arguments on the power saw have "in great part caused to lumber industry to be one of the outstanding examples of failure to produce during the war."

Robert W. Maxwell, representing the Lumbermen's Industrial Relations committee, called for setting aside the increased guide rate. Claiming the increase places power saw fallers and buckers above other classifications such as high rigger, second rigger and high climber. Maxwell said such logging men have been paid higher rates than either hand or power saw fallers and buckers.

Commission Accused
He accused the commission of "deliberately and recklessly creating many inequities" despite the fact it had the advantage of the forest service study and its own guide rates.

Members of the hearing board went on a logging operation tour at dawn today after their return from Seattle, where they conferred with the 12th regional war labor board.

Companies involved in the disputes include Pelican Bay Lumber Co., Klamath Falls; Timber Producers Ewauna Box Co., Klamath Falls; Oregon Medford Co., Medford.

Sitting on the board were Dexter M. Keezer, chairman, and Lewis M. Gill, public member; Carl J. Shipley and James A. Brownlow, labor member, and Earl N. Cannon and William B. Maloney, industry members.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline non-acid powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.
