

Player Deal Of Yankees And Cubs Worries Fans

By William J. Tucker (UP Staff Correspondent)
New York, Aug. 1—(UP)—Five days after Larry MacPhail of the Yankees engineered his fantastic inter-league deal with the Chicago Cubs, no fresh-and-blood evidence of what he got in return for his "$100,000 pitcher," Hank Borowy, had yet appeared today and the mystery was deepening hourly.

Anxious fans, the baffled press and certain characters along Broadway who stand to win or lose a fortune on the fate of the Yankees this season ask these questions:

1. If MacPhail has already obtained certain Chicago players in exchange for Borowy, why are they not at this moment performing in Yankee uniforms when the team has its best, if not last, chance to overhaul the Detroit Tigers in the American league race?

2. If such players were merely promised in the screwy deal, how can they now be passed on to the Yankees with the club owners of both leagues thoroughly aroused over the manner in which MacPhail waived Borowy out of the American loop and up through the lower brackets of the National to the Cubs?

3. If the $100,000 sale price is MacPhail's only expected return in the transaction, how come, since the Yankees are supposed to be as well-heeled as any club in baseball and dollars can do little to "strengthen the team for the future," MacPhail's announced purpose in the deal?

"Not yet," was the Yankee official's terse comment today when asked whether any players from Chicago had applied for New York uniforms, and there the matter rests.

"GOLFING GHOST" IS DIRECTOR OF EUROPE TOURNEY

Paris, Aug. 1—(UP)—Capt. Horton Smith, the Joplin, Mo., "golfing ghost" who as a kid of 21 stunned the world's fairway fans by winning the French open, took a look today at the St. Cloud layout where the European G. I. golf championship was being decided and said it was as tricky as ever.

Smith, who scored one of his first great triumphs here in 1929 by beating Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Britain's great Henry Cotton, is serving as tournament director.

One of Smith's former golfing colleagues, Cpl. Lloyd Mangrum, who came back after 19 months in a hospital due to a jeep accident, took the early lead in the professional division yesterday with a first round 69, three strokes better than Cpl. G. E. Nowak, a fellow Los Angeles professional. Mangrum, former Ryder cup star, played as a representative of Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd army. Nowak represented the army communications zone.

Pfc. James B. McHale of Philadelphia, former southern California champion and national amateur finalist in 1936 shot a 71 to lead the amateur division. Seventh army's Sgt. Grey Little, former Louisiana State runner up from Beaumont, Tex., had a 75.

With the first place Beavers and the last place Hollywood Stars idling last night, Middlemen of the Pacific Coast league had their day with a one-hit game turned in by San Diego hurler Vic Trahd and emergence of Sacramento into third place with a 7 to 3 victory over Los Angeles.

The Padres split a twin bill with Oakland, dropping the opener 11 to 6 and finishing up with a 2 to 1 victory in the nightcap. The Solons took over third place from the San Francisco Seals who were blanked 2 to 0 by the Seattle Rainiers. The latter advanced to 5 1/2 games behind the idling Beavers, who open their series with Hollywood tonight.

Willard Buchanan Writes of Finding Praise For Oregon

Pfc. Willard E. Buchanan, stationed with the army in the Canal Zone, recently wrote to the Mail Tribune telling of experiences while visiting at the Tivoli USO in Ancon, Canal Zone.

While looking through the state book of Oregon at the USO, Pfc. Buchanan wrote that he saw the names of P. E. Robinson, Edward V. Cheney and Pat Graham, Jr., all of Medford. Under their names, Pfc. Buchanan saw the following notation: "This is a note from a Chicago boy. I lived in Medford for 10 1/2 months with my wife while I was at Camp White. We loved

Oregon and considered it our second home and God's country. We lived at 522 West 10th street, 832 West 12th street and 506 North Beatty street. (Signed) T-S Walter Mueller." A postscript by T-S Mueller stated "I've been in 31 states, England, France, Belgium, Germany and Panama. Oregon is still the loveliest." Pfc. Buchanan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Buchanan, route 2, box 40-C, and has spent the past four months in the Canal Zone. He has been in the army two years.
