Through the efforts of the people of Jackson county, the war effort has been aided by 100 tons of paper and 10 tons of tin, and approximately $1,250 was collected to aid the crippled children's hospital Portland unit in their building program, according to John Rolston, chairman of the Shrine club paper and tin salvage drive conducted here July 21 to 29.

Rolston stated today that his committee wished to thank all who aided in the worthy cause, and "public cooperation was excellent." In most instances, Rolston said, paper was properly segregated and tied with stout cord. Special commendation was given to the 4-H club of Butte Falls and Boy Scouts of Rogue River and Gold Hill.

"Well done, WAVES!"

Men of the Navy salute the women of the Navy on 3 years of service to their country

"Well done!" says Fleet Admiral King. On the third anniversary hearty congratulations to Captain Mildred McAfee, Director of the Women's Reserve. "The WAVES," he said, "have won the respect and admiration of the entire service for their valuable contribution toward the winning of the war."

"Well done!" says a survivor of a gallant aircraft carrier. Wounded in a Jap bombing attack and rushed by air to a Naval hospital, he has nothing but praise for the treatment he has received from hard-working WAVES of the Hospital Corps. "When you're wounded," he says, "it's wonderful to have a woman's care. You are needed now in this important work."

"Well done!" says a Navy flyer due soon to be shipped out to fly against the Japs. At the air base where he trains, WAVES check flyers in and out of the field. Others route air traffic from the control tower, instruct flyers on the Link Trainer, serve as Aviation Machinist's Mates. "And," adds the flyer, "they know their jobs and we depend on them plenty!"

- and there's a big job still to do!

Women 20-36! The Navy wants you to help finish the job against the Japs. Join the WAVES—fill an important billet in the Hospital Corps or business end of the Navy. The need is urgent. Enlist NOW!

As we come closer to victory, the Navy's job gets tougher, not easier. With every step toward Tokyo, casualty lists grow longer. These gallant wounded need the best possible care. The kind of care you can give them as a WAVE in the Navy's Hospital Corps.

Thousands of WAVES are wanted in Navy hospitals. To work side by side with Navy doctors and nurses. To train the blind, the deaf, the disabled. To serve as laboratory technicians. To work in wards, guide a wheel chair. To help the grandest guys in the world get back on their feet.

Other thousands are needed in the business end of the Navy—as clerks, storekeepers, research assistants, photographers. Wherever you are assigned, you can be sure that as a member of the WAVES you will be making an important contribution to victory. . . doing a service you will be proud of the rest of your days.

You're needed in the Hospital Corps. Here's the chance of a lifetime to get specialized hospital training that will be valuable to you and to your family the rest of your life. After indoctrination, if selected for the Hospital Corps, you will receive 8 weeks of training at the great National Naval Medical Center (located at Bethesda, Md.) or at some other large naval hospital. Here you will get a broad general background in hospital work—then be assigned to duty at a Navy shore establishment.

You're needed, now more than ever, in the job a woman does best—helping our wounded get well. Scores of interesting and important billets are waiting to be filled. You may work in the operating room, assisting some of the world's best doctors. You may go on ward duty, giving treatments as ordered by the medical officer. You may become an occupational therapist helping the wounded regain the use of injured limbs. Every job is vitally important. Every job makes YOU important.

You're needed in the business end of the Navy. You might have a job like the woman who is checking motion picture film in the Photographic Science Laboratory in Washington, D. C. You might serve as a Link Trainer instructor, control tower operator, photographer, cryptanalyst, stenographer, or in one of many other jobs which may be "manned" ashore to see our Navy fighting at sea. You're needed to help your country administer the attack on Japan in the final stages of our war in the Pacific.

Exciting New Book Tells Whole Story

In this official Navy book, just off the press, you will get all the facts to help you decide about your service in the WAVES. It pictures the life you'll lead, training you'll receive, interesting jobs to which you may be assigned. It describes the uniform you wear, the pay you get. Lists all requirements. 36 pages, fully illustrated. Get your free copy now. Mail coupon, call at or phone your nearest Navy Recruiting Station or Office of Naval Officer Procurement.
