FREE NEWS FLOW ONLY WAR CURB DECLARES HOYT

Oregonian Publisher Says Atomic Age Means Race Suicide In Next War

Portland, Ore., Aug. 8—(U.P.)—Publisher Palmer Hoyt of the Portland Oregonian today said use of the atomic bomb means there must be no more wars and a world wide flow of free information is the only thing that can save civilization.

Hoyt, former domestic director of the office of war information, said talk of a third world war is equivalent to discussion of race suicide.

Need Understanding

"When we entered yesterday into the atomic age," Hoyt told a Portland service club, "it became not only important but vital that the peoples of the earth be given the immediate opportunity to understand each other through the medium of the world wide flow of free information.

"There is only one thing that can save civilization and that is the unhampered release of objective news—American style—between the nations.

"It will be no longer possible for part of the world to be informed and part of the world to be kept in ignorance. The atomic bomb is a fact. It's destructive force is as yet not fully reported but its potential is obviously beyond our present powers to conceive."

He said the only solution for peace was the mutual exchange of 11 types of information "unhampered by political censorships and unrestricted by artificial boundaries of tariffs or custom.

Press Must Lead

Hoyt said great strides have already been made in selling the idea of international freedom of news under the leadership of President Hugh Baillie of the United Press, General Manager Kent Cooper of the Associated Press and the American Society of Editors.

"But these strides are not enough," Hoyt added. "History has made the accomplishment of the objective essential. Generally speaking the press of America and of the British commonwealth of nations has not accepted the leadership in this vital program. It is imperative that the press does not shirk its vital responsibility."

YANKEE STOMACH O R EXCESSIVE ACIDITY

Dr. Brady

They still come by the peck, complaints of "acidity," "indigestion," "gastric weakness," "heartburn," "gas," "ulcer," described in picturesque but (for medical purposes) uninformative detail. Some of these correspondents ask for advice about diet; all of them want a remedy which will give some measure of relief.

Practically none of these correspondents even alludes to the functional state of his (or his dentist's) masticating equipment, and that, I suppose, is natural enough, in view of the childish popular conception of the value and importance of the teeth in health economy and the reckless disregard of this by many physicians and dentists who so casually advise or approve the sacrifice of one or more teeth on the flimsiest suspicion or pretext.

The first chapter in the booklet "So You Have Indigestion?" (for copy send ten cents and stamped self addressed envelope) tells how tells how essential is that part of digestion which occurs in the mouth while the food is being masticated and insalivated and continues for half an hour or more after the food is swallowed. After all, Nature doesn't provide each of us with from 28 to 32 teeth just for the looks of them.

Whether from neglect of salivary or mouth digestion or from the quick lunch evil or from the habit of taking excessive proportions of concentrated purified carbohydrate (sugars and starchy white flour) or other causes mentioned in the pamphlet "Yankee Stomach" available on written request (no clipping, please) if you provide stamped self addressed envelope, one of the most frequent complaints of the American public is excessive acidity.

For either occasional or frequent or daily use as an antacid to neutralize the excess of acid in the stomach and relieve the discomforts attending acidity — heartburn, water-brash, "gas," empty pain or hunger pain, acid eructations, sense of fulness or bloating after a meal, yes, and the irritability and crankiness that often accompanies hyperacidity, a great many persons with Yankee stomach have found discs of calcium carbonate and magnesium trisilicate most satisfactory. The combination of approximately 7 grains of the prepared chalk with 3 grains of magnasium trisilicate seems to be more efficacious than a much larger does of chalk (calcium carbonate) alone.

Correspondents will please refrain from submitting histories or descriptions of digestive troubles for my opinion. I cannot hazard a guess by mail. I do not prescribe medicine, diet or other treatment in any case.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Time for Plates

Had all my upper teeth pulled about a month ago. The gums are a little tender yet. Would it be too soon to have plates made now? (M. S.)

Answer—No. Best results are obtained if the dentist takes the impression before extraction of the teeth, prepares the plates and inserts the plates immediately after extraction, before the patient leaves the office.

Conservation of Kidneys

Six months ago it was necessary to remove one of my kidneys. What kind of food and drink may I take without harm to the remaining kidney? I use no liquor or tobacco. How about lithia water? I drink coffee mornings. (R. W. J.)

Answer — No particular food. Eat moderately, that is, avoid overeating. No particular water, just ordinary tap water. No alcohol, of course. Cup or two of coffee daily is all right. One kidney carries on the function of two apparently without strain—that's why the body is equipped with pairs of some essential organs subject to loss by injury or disease—so that loss of one will not put the machine on the scrap pile, as long as demands on the remaining organ are moderate.

Eagle Point

Eagle Point, Aug. 8—Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Simmons, of Medford, but recently of Phoenix, Arizona, recently bought the old Lewis store building here, and are remodeling it into a seven room dwelling. Mr. Simmons is a carpenter and is employed on the local school building at present.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Marrilees, recently of Richland, Oregon, Hanford district, where Mr. Merrrilees was employed in connection with the making of the atomic bombs, arrived in Eagle Point Monday evening. They expect to remain in this locality if they can find the place they want. They lived here when Camp White was under construction, where Mr. Merrilees was employed.

Former neighbors here of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newland and son Jimmie are glad to welcome them back after several months visiting in the east and in Los Angeles. They have rented the Lusk place here and expect to remain for the winter at least.

Mrs. C. H. Davis returned to her home in Riddle, Oregon, last Sunday after a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Henderson here.

Mrs. Orvil Henderson recently received word that her grandson, T-Sgt. Wm. H. Gipson, who has been on active duty with the 6th Ranger Division in the south Pacific for nearly three years, will arrive home in Los Angeles sometime this month on 45 days furlough.

C. C. Taylor of Cedro Wooley, Wash., was honor guest at a family reunion held in Lithia Park at Ashland Sunday, August 5. The families of the late W. W. Taylor and H. H. Taylor were all present with exception of Theron and John Taylor, numbering 35 in all. The parents of the Taylor brothers, Clark and Mary Ann Taylor, were pioneers in this country from the east, coming in 1853.

Columbia Utilities Manager Fred Bruegger has been having some general repair work done on the telephone building here, the past week.

Sites Near Frisco Are Suggested For Capital Of World

San Francisco, Aug. 8—(U.P.)—Several possible sites were suggested today for a proposed postwar "capital of the world," which may be established within a 100-mile radius of San Francisco.

Since the close of the United Nations conference here, a committee of prominent business and political leaders have been campaigning to bring the machinery of international peace and monetary organizations to the home of the world security charter.

The San Francisco world capital campaign has been discreet because its most active proponents were among the official hosts to the UNCIO delegates. They felt that a heavy-handed promotional drive would be in bad taste and an imposition on the good will of their conference guests.
