COURT TO STUDY RECENT DIVORCE OF ARLINE JUDGE

Chicago, Aug. 9—(U.P.)—An investigation has been opened into the divorce recently granted Arline Judge, movie actress, State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said today.

Miss Judge was granted a divorce decree last May 17 by Judge Joseph Sabath, dissolving her marriage to Capt. James R. Addams, of the Royal Air Force. Miss Judge was married to Vincent Morgan Ryan, 41, Chicago advertising executive, a few weeks ago.

Two Complaints

Tuohy said he had received complaints from two sources. One was from the superior court executive committee, which had been investigating a complaint that evidence was insufficient to warrant the divorce. Tuohy refused to identify the other source.

Tuohy said he already had questioned Alexander Jarema, an investment broker of Chicago, who testified in the divorce proceedings. Another witness, Mrs. Annette Davis, sister-in-law of Miss Judge's attorney, also will be questioned. Miss Judge lived with Mrs. Davis during the divorce proceedings.

It was understood unofficially that the investigation was aimed at two phases of the divorce: testimony of witnesses, and whether or not Miss Judge had legal residence here.

It was Miss Judge's fourth divorce.

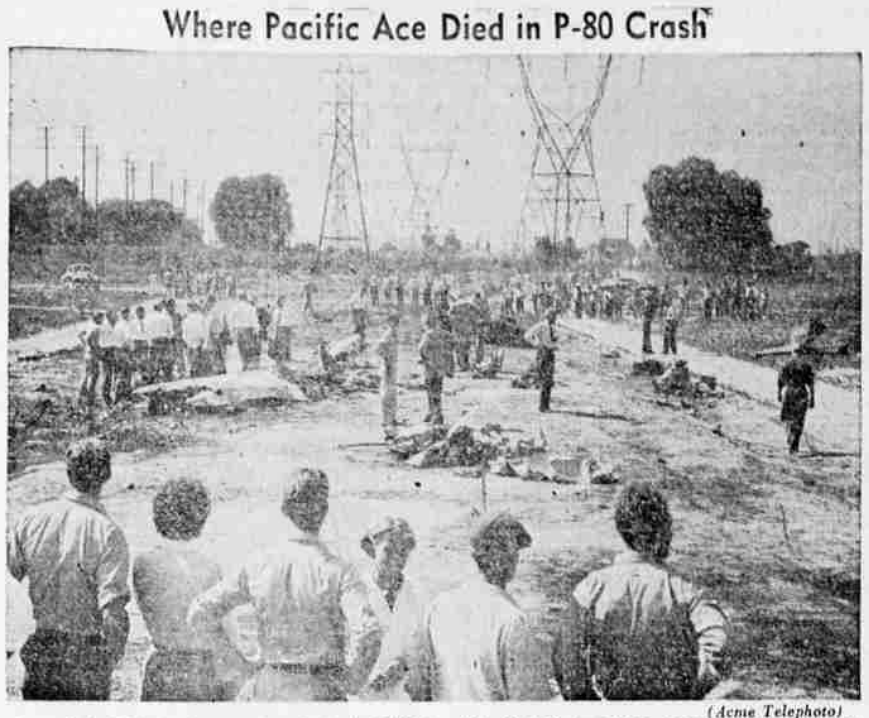
Where Pacific Ace Died in P-80 Crash



(Acme Telephoto)

Scene of the P-80 jet plane crash at Burbank, Calif., in which Maj. Richard Bong, America's leading combat flying ace, was killed during test flight. Careening plane narrowly missed high-tension wires (background) and large residential district nearby. Maj. Bong held Congressional Medal of Honor for 40 victories over enemy.

Grave In Hilltop Cemetery Last Resting Place of Bong

Poplar, Wis., Aug. 9—(U.P.)—A grave in a tiny hilltop cemetery today marked the final resting place of Maj. Richard I. Bong, the Wisconsin farm boy who became the nation's top fighting pilot.

The 24-year-old major, killed Monday in a crash of an experimental plane, was brought home yesterday from California to be buried in plain view of the Popular farm where he had spent his boyhood.

A squad of 16 P-47 fighter planes flew in formation overhead and a military guard of honor stood stiffly at attention as Bong's body was carried to the grave. The flag draped over his coffin was folded and presented to Bong's widow.

A three-volley salute broke the stillness of the air, and the mournful notes of Taps sounded as the casket was lowered into the ground.

Mrs. Bong, the former Marjorie Vattendahl of Superior, accompanied the body by plane from Long Beach, Calif. The giant C-47 transport plane set down at Duluth, Minn., and a military escort bore the body to the Lutheran Concordia Church in Superior, where the young couple had repeated their wedding vows only six months earlier.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Arvid F. Hoorn, who also said graveside rites for the fallen hero.

Tears flowed from the eyes of many of the 1,200 listeners as the pastor said, "The entire nation bows with us to express our homage and respect to Major Bong's memory."

BRIDGES QUIZZED FOR CITIZENSHIP

San Francisco, Aug. 9—(U.P.)—Harry Ranton Bridges, west coast labor leader and native Australin, today had completed a routine preliminary citizenship examination here.

Bridges' final examination will be heard by Superior Court Judge Thomas Foley Sept. 17 when U. S. Naturalization Examiner L. G. Garner will make his as yet unannounced recommendation.

Garner, who quizzed Bridges for approximately 45 minutes yesterday, said the CIO leader's test was "just like anyone else's."

Garner added that the only deviation from routine questioning occurred when he asked if charges that Bridges fathered the child of a New York dancer, filed by Mrs. Bridges in her cross-complaint to Bridges' divorce suit, were true. Bridges denied his wife's charges and also denied that he was ever a communist, Garner said.

Birds Damage Corn Crops in Raid On Fields of County

Blackbirds, crows and Chinese pheasants, all plentiful, are raiding corn patches in various sections of the county. Blackbirds are the most numerous and pestiferous, according to reports. They peck away the soft, tender ends of sweet corn leaving the remainder unmarketable.

Scare-crows have lost their power to frighten the birds in many areas, and some Sams Valley farmers who left tractors and other equipment near the patches to frighten the blackbirds, got no results. The pests even rest on the tractors after a raid.

Chinese pheasants and quail are reported numerous in all sections of the county.

GREEN IS AUTHOR MAGAZINE STORY ON CRATER LAKE

An article on the origin of Crater Lake and a vivid description of the scenic wonder and surrounding territory, written by Gordon R. Green, local manager of American Fruit Growers, appears with photos by Shangle studio of the lake and adjacent scenes in the August issue of "Ghost Town News", a bimonthly magazine published at Knott's Berry Place, Buena Park, California.

The article tells of the first discovery of the lake by John Wesley Hillman in 1853 and following events which led to the setting aside by congress of the lake territory as a national park.

"Before 1885 Crater Lake had few visitors and was not widely known. But it was on August 15 of that year, however, that William Gladstone Steel, after 15 years of effort to get to the lake, stood for the first time on its rim," Green wrote.

In conclusion the writer says: "When gas and tires again are plentiful and the spell of the open road takes hold, we urge that you plan to visit this enchanted spot and we guarantee you will take away memories that will live with you forever."

AUTO ASSEMBLY PLANT TO START

South Gate, Calif., Aug. 9—(U.P.)—General Motors Corp, will resume automotive production at its South Gate assembly plant late this month, Plant Manager Henry L. Clark announced today.

First vehicles to hit the assembly lines will be Chevrolet trucks and bus chassis, with Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac cars in production by Dec. 1, Clark said.

"By Nov. 1 we will be producing about 2,700 trucks per month, using considerable assembly equipment shipped from the prewar assembly plant in Oakland, now leased to the army," he said.

Reconversion of the South Gate plant is underway, with construction to start late this month on an addition which will increase floor space from the present 718,000 square feet to 1,068,000 square feet.
