PHOTO OF JAPANESE ANGERS POLICE DOG
Fort Lewis, Wash. — (U.P.) — "Lady," German police mascot of a Fort Lewis engineer construction battalion, wasn't expecting to find a Japanese when she made a call on the battalion war information center recently.
"Lady" was no lady, and made a sudden lunge toward him. An alert officer stopped the dog before she completely destroyed the life-sized photo, part of an exhibit showing differences between Japanese and Chinese.

HEARSE USED TO BILK AUTHORITIES FOR GAS
Hazen, Ark. — (U.P.) — A car thief originated a new—and almost successful—method of overcoming gasoline and tire rationing problems in making a getaway.
He stole a hearse, he admitted. When arrested, he admitted that his tale of making an emergency run not only made it possible for him to secure gasoline, but also procured a new tire for the hearse when one of the old ones blew out.

MANY CHANGES IN POST-WAR AUTOS ARE CONSIDERED

Cleveland — (U.P.) — A new post-war automobile is to be revealed soon that has been designed along new and startling lines, according to the Gyro Aircraft Engine Corp., a free-lance automotive development outfit here.

Following War Production Chief J. A. Krug's go-ahead signal to the automotive industry, Gyro officials are said to be negotiating with one of the Detroit automobile companies for the adoption and production of this new car. However, the name of the Detroit manufacturer could not be disclosed at this time.

Gyro have had veteran engineers and designers at work on this new "Automobile of Tomorrow" for more than two years.

Clifford S. Goby, general manager for Gyro, said the car is distinctly new in every sense and is not a revamp of some pre-war model. Some of the major features are the complete removal of the customary long engine hood out in front, the placing of the driver's seat forward, a curved postless windshield.

All four wheels are sprung independently of each other. The seats are independent and can be swiveled like an armchair. There is plenty of room between the front and rear seats, even though the total car's length has been kept comparatively short for easy maneuverability in traffic. "You might even get up a little card game if you wanted to," Goby said.

The baggage compartment is made easily accessible through a door in the side of the car. The motor is located at the rear and drives the axles by a new drive shaft arrangement.

THE TOTAL INCOME OF ALL CIVILIAN RESIDENTS IN SAN FRANCISCO DURING 1944 WAS MORE THAN TWICE THAT IN 1939.
