

AIRMEN RETURN AFTER MONTHS IN BURMA JUNGLES

Manila, Aug. 31—(U.P.)—Seven American Liberator bombers were either back in the United States today, or well on their way, after spending seven months in the wilds of former head-hunters in the Burma jungles.

Members of the 13th Air Force's Fifth Bomber group, they were rescued by Australians who found them chumming around with a huge native chief named Sadi who once had the largest collection of peeled heads south of Borneo Bay.

The Liberator crew took off Nov. 16 to attack a Japanese flat-top but instead they ran into three battleships and between 30 or 40 enemy cruisers and destroyers.

The orders were to attack, so they did. Enemy flak killed the navigator, Lt. Fred Brennan of Los Angeles instantly. Lt. Jerome Rosenthal, the co-pilot from Los Angeles, was also hit but managed to give the order to bail out as the big bomber limped back over land. Later Rosenthal died and he and Brennan, along with Lt. Thomas Coberly, the pilot, were buried in Borneo.

HUNTERS TO GET 8 BOXES OF SHELLS

Washington, Aug. 31—(U.P.)—The war production board announced today that hunters will be allowed eight boxes of ammunition this season, the same amount as last year. Supplementary amounts will be permitted for farmers, ranchers and trappers.

The WPB yesterday revoked controls over the production of revolvers and shotguns for civilian use.

DOOLITTLE RAID WARNING FAILED TO AROUSE JAPS

Tokyo, Aug. 31—(U.P.)—A question unanswered since the Doolittle raid on Tokyo in 1942 was answered today.

At the time of the raid the American naval force carrying Doolittle's planes toward Japan came upon a small Japanese vessel which was sunk.

Not knowing whether the vessel had sent a warning, it was necessary to launch the raiding planes from a greater distance than had been planned. It was this additional distance that caused many of the planes to come down before reaching China bases.

Today it was learned that the precaution was justified; the message was sent before the enemy vessel went down.

The warning caused an alert in Tokyo before the Doolittle raiders arrived, and the vessel's captain was awarded a high decoration by the Japanese government.

But the Japanese population took the warning lightly. A resident of Tokyo said today he was attending a ball game when one American plane flew over at a low altitude.

The crew, he said, appeared to be waving handkerchiefs at the Japanese crowd.

Foxhole Sailor

(Acme Telephoto) Radlins 1/c Rohry E. MacNeill, Burlingame, Calif., "deserter" from Navy on Okinawa on D-Day, turned up two weeks later with an Army patrol from behind enemy lines. Anxious to be as good a soldier as his dad, World War I hero, who was killed in this war on Saipan as marine gunner, Mac learned to ambush enemy, dig foxholes.

COM. PERRY FLAG SHOWN AT RITES

Yokohama, Aug. 31—(U.P.)—Commodore Matthew Perry's faded 31-starred American flag will be on display for the second time in 92 years Sunday during surrender ceremonies aboard the battleship Missouri.

The flag, which Perry hoisted on the battleship Mississippi July 14, 1853, when delivering a letter from President Fillmore to the Japanese imperial high command, was flown here from Annapolis, Md.

The plane, which made the 9,500-mile flight in 124 hours was piloted by Lt. John K. Bremyer, Ph. L. Johnson, Kansas. Capt. H. A. Baldrige, curator of the naval academy museum offered to send it to Adm. William F. Halsey, who accepted.

NEED SACRIFICE TO RETAIN PEACE

San Francisco, Aug. 31—(U.P.)—The peace of the moment will be lost unless Americans are willing to sacrifice as unselfishly and as purposefully as they did during the war, Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma said last night at a Jefferson day dinner here.

He said his greatest fear is that America's protective capacity, miraculous as it was in war, may not be able to keep pace with tremendous demands for homes, autos, radios and the like.

A prehistoric animal having four horns, and resembling a cross between a deer and a hog, has been given the name Syn-doceras Cooki.
