UNDULANT FEVER

Dr. Brady

Undulant fever, Malta fever, Mediterranean fever, goat fever, contagious abortion of cattle, Bruce Ilosis, Bang's disease, Texas fever are different names for what is probably the same infection, with a germ called Brucella melitensis.

Undulant means the fever occurs in a succession of feverish relapse with intervals of what appears to be convalescense, and so the course of the illness is months or even years.

No reliable diagnostic test has been developed, although cultures from blood and other fluids, skin tests and agglutination tests similar to the Widal test for typhoid, may give some help in diagnosis. In many cases of what eventually proves to be undulant fever, the best of physicians may be strongly of the opinion that the illness is bacterial endocarditis, rheumatic fever, malaria, chronic bronchitis, pyelitis, even tuberculosis.

Workers in meat packing plants, particularly those handling hogs or pork products; persons handling hides of cattle, sheep, hogs, goats; persons caring for such animals contract undulant fever in many instances. The possibility of such infection, as well as infection by the agency of flies carrying the germs of the disease on their feet, must be kept constantly in mind. It would be foolish to assume that the universal cooking, boiling, scalding, sterilization or pasteurization of milk can protect the public from the risk of contracting undulant fever. Certainly any nondescript milk or milk you buy casually without previous knowledge or experience of its purity, should be so sterilized or rendered safe for consumption. Thas it, boil it for five minutes, or scald it (bring to boil for one minute) or pasteurize it (heat it to 150 degrees F. for half an hour). This will make any milk safe for infant, invalid, or any one.

Children, who are the main milk drinkers, seldom have undulant fever. Most of the cases of undulant fever occur in the West-North-Central states, especially Iowa, where hogs are raised on the largest scale and the porcine strain of the Brucella is most prevalent. Adult males have a high incidence of undulant fever—and they are the handlers of animals and carcasses.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Good Dentists Wanted

Expect to have several teeth extracted and would like to have a plate made ready to wear immediately. Please give me the names of a few dentists in this city who can do such work. (C. J. R.)

Answer—Any good dentist will do so. Sorry but I cannot keep data on dentists.

Fear of Insanity

How can one overcome fear of insanity. Mental excitement and fear picked up in psychology class caused this idea to come into my head and I cannot seem to shake it. (C. R. A.)

Answer—Sit down and write out your whole story in your own words, if you can confide in me, and send it to me with stamped envelope bearing your address. I'll be happy to advise you to the best of my ability.

Dry Skin and Night Blindness

Have been taking 75,000 units of natural vitamin A (three capsules) a day for about a month. They have brought great benefit for my dry, irritated skin and night blindness. Would it be safe to continue this much longer? (F. R.)

Answer—One capsule (25,000 units) daily should be enough to maintain the improvement for the next month or two, and after that one such capsule every alternate day or say three a week may be enough. But no matter how much you take it can scarcely do any harm, in my judgment. Read the chapter on rough skin in booklet 'Save Your Skin'—for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Leg Cramps

Daughter, 24, and 1, 53, have recently had painful cramps in calf and toes, particularly at night, waking us from sleep. (Mrs. J. M. E.)

Answer—Frequent cause is adult tetany. Send s.a.e., for pamphlet.

Eisenhower Plans German Elections

Berlin, Sept. 17—(U.P.)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, reporting progress in denazifying the American occupation zone of Germany, today announced plans to arrange for township, city and county elections in the zone, the first democratic balloting scheduled for the Reich since 1932.

Eisenhower announced that administrative officials of the interior department of "land" units have been instructed to write new governmental codes preparing the way for elections.
