Oldest of Clubs Plans Luncheon; Founder Coming

The Wednesday Study club, which holds the distinction of being the oldest women's club in the city, will resume meetings for the 1945-46 season with a luncheon at the Holland Hotel Oct. 3. Mrs. Frances Cochran is hostess chairman for the meeting, set for 12:45 p. m.

Three founders of the club, organized in 1908, will be present for the meeting. These are Mrs. F. K. Deuel, Mrs. E. B. Pickel and Mrs. H. C. Kentner, the latter planning to arrive in Medford that day from Seattle in time for the luncheon. Mrs. Kentner will remain here until Saturday as a guest of Mrs. Deuel, and will then continue on to California.

Founders of the club recall that while officially organized as the Wednesday Study club in 1908, the group actually dates back a year or so earlier since it was the outgrowth of an informal group of about 20 women who met together to read the popular "Stoddard Lectures."

Naval Officers Are Entertained At Formal Dance

A formal dance was given at the Outpost last evening for naval officers who are patients at the Camp White hospital. In charge of arrangements were three hostesses, Miss Margaret Ruth Bolton, general chairman, Miss Margaret Ann Brown, refreshments, and Miss Jean Davidson, decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Bebb were patron and patroness for the evening.

During the evening Miss June Williams entertained with vocal solos.

About 50 guests were present.

ADRIENNE'S

Concert Pianist To Give Program Here Monday Eve

First concert of the season planned for the entertainment of valley music lovers will be that given by Harlow Mills, pianist, at the Purucker Piano house Monday, beginning at 8 o'clock. His appearance is sponsored by the Medford Musical society and the concert is open to members of the society and invited guests.

Mr. Mills, a graduate of the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, later studied in Italy where he specialized in composition. His "Violin Sonata" was awarded the Bears prize of Columbia university in 1934 and he has also composed works for the orchestra, chorus, string quartet, other violin numbers and for piano and voice.

This will be Mr. Mills third appearance here, the previous two concerts having been given jointly with his wife, Elizabeth Mills, violinist.

Present Program On Constitution At Chapter Meet

Presentation of material on the United States constitution and a review of projects featured the first fall meeting of Crater Lake chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Green, 701 Park avenue, Sept. 22.

Roll call was answered with an excerpt from the constitution or a patriotic quotation and Mrs. M. M. Morris read "A Notable Anniversary," an article on the constitutional convention which closed Sept. 17, 1787, with the adoption of the preamble and original seven articles of the constitution.

Mrs. O. H. Brenneman, regent, read an article on constitution day and also a letter from the state regent, Mrs. Bert B. Lowry, Medford, in which a message from the president general was contained. The national officer wrote of army and navy hospital conditions and urged the D. A. R. members to continue the project of furnishing head-phones for patients. Mrs. Glen Taylor read an article on the Mayo General hospital in Galesburg, Ill., one of the hospitals where the Daughters have placed the earphones.

Mrs. G. Q. D'Albini read a letter from the crew of an L.C.I. boat sponsored by the chapter and Mrs. Eva Marsh read an interesting letter from her nephew, Richard McElhose, now on Guam.

A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. E. M. Wilson for Mrs. H. E. Armstrong, D. A. R. members who passed away recently.

A covered dish luncheon preceded the meeting with Mrs. Ralph Spencer and Mrs. Q. E. G. Meyers assisting Mrs. Green.
