

Hal Newhouser To Oppose Borowy In Series Opener

Detroit, Oct. 2—(U.P.)—A couple of guys who have it in the clutch drew the honor today of going after the first game of what probably will be the richest world series in history. It will be Fordham Hank Borowy for the Chicago Cubs and a home town boy, Hal Newhouser, for the Detroit Tigers when the series opens here tomorrow with the National league pennant winners a 2 to 1 favorite. The Cubs were favored at 6 to 5 to take the all-important opening game. Borowy and Newhouser were the pennant clinching boys of 1945. Fordham Hank, the second man in history to split 20 or more victories between the two major leagues in a single season, drew the opening hurling assignment from Manager Charley Grimm for he knows the Detroit Tigers, and what's more, knows how to beat them. O'Neill Decided Grimm decided yesterday that Borowy would be his man, after toying with the idea of starting Henry Wyse, a fast curve artist, or Claude Passeau, a veteran of the pitching wars. There never was any question about Steve O'Neill's starter. It's been Lefty Hal all the way—and he cemented it when he turned back the St. Louis Browns Sunday in the game which gave the Tigers the American league championship. That was his 25th victory—making him the winningest pitcher in the majors. It wasn't quite up to his 1944 standard when he won 29, but it was enough to retain the honor of being the top winner in the majors.

Reason to dig down!

Take the Fourth of July. Take turkey-for-Thanksgiving. Take the War Chest. The oldest is 300-going-on-400 years of age. The youngest is three-going-on-four. Yet each is so much an American institution we take it for granted you subscribe to the War Chest as regularly as you eat Thanksgiving turkey and celebrate the Fourth. We take it for granted you recognize this as the season when you reach for your check-book.

Let none of us take for granted that this is just another year. This is a red-letter year! Such a year has never been before! This is glorious Victory Year! Yes, in Europe, China and the Philippines, our friends still need our help amid the ashes of disaster. Let us share with them some of our Victory Year good fortune. Let us dig down for the War Chest, remembering that more than half our contribution will go to the war service agencies all over the globe—the USO, United Seamen's Service, and many others.

At home, community agencies also need extraordinary help. For them, it's Victory Year, too... but a Victory Year that has brought with it many problems. These problems reach into every city, village and town—into your community. It all adds up to this: We've some extra concerns this year because our Nation has won the greatest war in history. That makes them problems to be thankful for! And if we're going to be thankful we can all well show it by sharing—War Chest fashion. There's reason to dig down.

JOE LOUIS GETS ARMY RELEASE, TO SEE SERIES

New York, Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis dapper in a civilian gray suit and mottled red necktie, boarded a train for his Detroit home and the World Series today, predicting that his beloved Tigers would beat the Cubs four games to two. Ex-sergeant Joe, who received his honorable discharge from the army at nearby Camp Shanks yesterday, declared with gusto, "Ah! I see every game of that series at Detroit and Chicago, too."

The champ has plans that will occupy his time until new year's. After the series, he said, he will return to New York for some business huddles with Mike Jacobs. Then he will go to Los Angeles, where he intends to relax and do preliminary conditioning until January. He admitted, with a chuckle, that most of this preliminary work would be confined to golf—"Mah favorite form of training." In January, he will return to New York and confer with Jacobs about the "big fight" in June—his second title defense against Billy Conn who was recently discharged from the army. They will decide whether Joe will have any tune-up bouts, whether he will go on an exhibition tour or whether he will merely concentrate on preparations to meet the Pittsburgh Irishman who put up such a great fight in June 1941.

Football Briefs

Berkeley, Calif., Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Bill Agnew, former Stanford university freshman star, worked out today with the University of California football squad and Coach Buck Shaw hoped to have the triple-threat air in shape for Saturday's game with Washington.

Moraga, Cal., Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Henry Val Gleason, a star from the 1943 squad who has just returned from the navy, today joined St. Mary's Gaels, who already boast a talented backfield.

San Francisco, Oct. 2—(U.P.)—The San Francisco Clippers of the Pacific Coast professional football league today had signed Jimmy Caline, former University of Georgia backfield star, to a 1945 contract.

Pullman, Wash., Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Warned by scouts that the Oregon State college Beavers are "big and fast," Coach Phil Sorbø ran his Washington State college Cougars through extra-length drills today preparatory to their week-end game.

Seattle, Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Coach Ralph Welch of the University of Washington Huskies worked the kinks out of his team's pass defense in anticipation of a strong University of California aerial attack at Berkeley Saturday.

Eugene, Ore., Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Tex Oliver's University of Oregon Webfeet today began preparation of their new T-twist offense for Saturday's game against the University of Idaho. The lineup is expected to include newcomers Jim Byers and Jake Leicht.

Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Coach Lon Stiner said today his Oregon State Beavers will work on methods of coping with Washington State's T-formation, which they will have a chance to crack in their clash with the Cougars next Saturday at Pullman.

Moscow, Ida., Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Reserves of the University of Idaho football squad were in readiness for possible action against Oregon in their game next Saturday after it was ascertained that a knee injury would possibly keep Melvin Kawasoe, right guard, from the lineup.

Los Angeles, Oct. 2—(U.P.)—Despite injury to three regulars, University of Southern California today faced its next engagement with confidence spawned from two straight wins over established rivals, University of California and University of California at Los Angeles. Backfield casualties are Veri Lillywhite, Ted Tennehill and Roy

Portland, Seals Beaten To Tie Up Coast Loop Playoff

(By United Press) The Sacramento Solons and the Seattle Rainiers, as though spurred by a common determination, defeated San Francisco and Portland, respectively, Monday night and left each series of the semi-final Pacific Coast league playoffs for the Governors' cup tied at three games apiece.

Credit for Seattle's 4-3 victory over Portland went to veteran Hal Turpin, who outpitched three Beaver moundsmen, while another old-timer of the circuit, Jo Jo White, turned the trick that enabled Sacramento to nose out the Seals, 1-0.

Beavers Lead After spotting the Beavers with a three-run lead in the first inning, the Rainiers started their comeback with one run in the sixth when Bill Matheson tripled to center and scored on George McDonald's fly to deep center. Seattle started a three-run rally in the seventh as Ted Norbert doubled to center and scored after Bob Finley sent one of Beaver Pitcher Jake Mooty's offerings to center field. Turpin walked and Finley scored the second run on Bob Gorbould's double.

Seattle chalked up the clinching tally when Hal Patchett walked and Turpin came in on Bill Matheson's single. Mooty gave up the Beaver mound in the seventh to Jack Tising, who was replaced in the same frame by Roy Helsler. Sacramento's game at San Francisco was scoreless until the first of the ninth, when Solor Ed Zipay singled to right field and went to third on Al McElreath's single. Jack Calvey grounded a slow roller and Zipay scored what became the winning run.

Thus the stage was set for crucial seventh-game playoffs Tuesday night at San Francisco and Seattle.

would have changed the course of the war, Stowers declared. He added that airplane factories here were tooled for war long before Pearl Harbor not because of our foresight but because of contracts from England and France and urged his listeners never again to let the nation "return to the horse and buggy thinking of 1933 and 1919" but to remember that "the next war will be the last because there won't be anyone left to fight a fourth" if a few atomic bombs are dropped.

foreign trade far beyond previous levels. No Barriers Urged States should not set up restrictions which will prove barriers to private flying, the speaker said, and added that restrictions should be on a federal basis and uniform for all parts of the country. Stowers said that commercial flying has limitless possibilities and told of air freighters bearing perishable products, small plants, styles, medicines newspapers and magazines and said that "now we are talking of a five-cent ton-mile rate whereas a little while ago we were talking of a 25-cent ton-mile rate."

Stowers urged his listeners to work towards maintaining a high level of scientific research in this country and declared that if we had spent a fraction of the cost of the war on research before the war, "There is a strong possibility that Hitler would never have dared to attempt his plan." He pointed out that both the rocket and jet-propulsion were first discovered in this country, the former many years before the war, but that we neglected further research and allowed the Germans to develop them into weapons turned against our nation. Planes Save Country Documents and plans seized from the Germans show that without the vast air power which the allies were able to throw on to Germany, destroying their laboratories and factories, this country might well have been the target of rocket bombs and other weapons which

AIR POWER VITAL TO RETAIN PEACE; SPEAKER ASSERTS

Air power is peace power, and since America is now the most powerful of all nations in the air, we must use this power as an instrument to keep the peace, declared Harvey Stowers, assistant to the president of the Aircraft Industries Association of America in an address before the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Holland Monday noon. Stowers said that this country, and the entire world, is entering on the "air age" and that cities and countries without adequate air parks, strips, terminals and harbors will be "by-passed by travelers and commerce."

Washington, Oct. 2—(U.P.)—President Sergio Osmena of the Philippine Commonwealth, who recently arrived in this country from Manila, paid a brief visit on President Truman today. Paul McNutt, United States commissioner to the Philippines who accompanied Osmena, said the visit was just "a brief social call" and that Osmena would see President Truman again.

WEED CONTROL EYED

Russian napweed, a competitive perennial, has made its appearance in the valley and tests with exterminating fluids have been conducted by the county agent's office to determine which is best to apply. There is not much of the napweed in this section now, but like all weeds it spreads rapidly and early control is the objective, according to the county agent.
