

HANK GREENBURG IS ABSOLVED OF BLAME ON PLAY

with an error in the 12th inning of yesterday's game, permitting the Cubs to win, 8 to 7, and squaring the series at three games apiece.

The various writers "kicked" so vehemently that the three official scorers reversed their decision, cleansing Greenberg's hands.

Took Bad Hop

The questionable play came in the last half of the 12th inning with the Cubs at bat and the score tied 7-all. Pinch runner Billy Schuster was on first base when Stan Hack rifled a single to left field. The ball took a crazy bounce, jumping over Greenberg's head and rolling to the left field wall about 365 feet from home plate as Schuster scampered home with the "big" run.

The official scoring trio credited Hack with a single at the time and charged "the Greenberg boy" with a two-base error. But five hours after the game, in world series headquarters, the storm broke as one after another of the sportswriters told their fellow craftsmen, who are

Borowy to Oppose Big Hal Tomorrow

Chicago, Oct. 8—(U.P.)—Fordham Hank Borowy, who has appeared in three 1945 World Series games, will be the starting pitcher for the Cubs tomorrow in the seventh and deciding game, Manager Charles Grimm announced today.

Detroit Manager Steve O'Neill announced that he will start his leading pitcher, Southpaw Hal Newhouser, whose series record stands at one-all.

servicing as official scorer, that it was an unjust decision, because Greenberg never had a chance at the crazy, skipping ball. The official three-base, Chief Scorer Martin J. Haley of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Harry G. Salsinger of the Detroit News and Edward Burns of the Chicago Tribune, reversed their stand.

In erasing the blot, Haley said the scorers had "unanimously agreed that the ball took a bad hop," and Greenberg was guiltless.

"We are reversing our original ruling of a single and an error and giving Hack a double," Haley said, "plus a run-batted-in for Hack and no error for Greenberg. Our original decision was based on the fact that Greenberg apparently charged the ball unnecessarily—apparently misjudging the hop."

GERMAN OFFICER ORDERED KILLING

Rome, Oct. 9—(U.P.)—Wehrmacht Gen. Anton Dostler ordered 15 Americans on an office of strategic services mission shot despite their capture in uniform, a witness testified at his trial.

Dostler, the first German general to be tried by a U. S. military court for war crimes, pleaded innocent to charges that he violated the Geneva convention by ordering the execution without trial of two officers and 13 enlisted men on March 26, 1944.

Welcome Home!

2,393 veterans have already come back to work for the Southern Pacific

WE are justly proud of the 20,013 Southern Pacific men and women who joined the armed forces. Those who have been discharged, we gladly welcome back to the Southern Pacific.

Our policy in re-employing veterans is very simple. The Southern Pacific Company wants its family together again.

While these men and women were away, their seniority advanced just as if they were here on the job. Their continuity of service has been maintained for pension purposes. And Southern Pacific has arranged with the Veterans Administration to participate in a program of training courses for our partially disabled veterans.

We believe that most of our returning war veterans will want to come back with us. Already, of the 2,768 former Southern Pacific people returned to civilian life, 2,393 have come back to work for their railroad.

These people know that Southern Pacific's war work did not end with the surrender of Japan. Millions of men from overseas must still be returned to their homes.

That so many of our veterans came back to Southern Pacific indicates a determination to finish the job and a faith in our Company's future that makes me, personally, very proud of every one of them.

A. T. MERCIER, President

The Friendly Southern Pacific
