

Tornado Seen As Tough Foe By Klamath Writer

(From Klamath Falls Herald and News)

By Malcolm Epley
There are four high school teams in the Southern Oregon conference. We have seen three of them — Klamath Falls, Ashland and Grants Pass—in action, and of course we've heard plenty about Medford. We'll hazard the opinion that this is as tough a circuit as there is in the state, which is in keeping with the record over the years. All of them have been showing up mighty well in early-season games against competition outside the conference.

Of the four conference teams, Medford alone has not yet met an opponent in the family. Its first conference squabble comes Friday night, against Klamath Falls. Klamath has won one and lost one—beating Ashland and losing to Grants Pass. Ashland has lost one, and Grants Pass has won one. From here on out, these four teams will be engaging in some tough intra-conference struggles.

Build-Up
One of the toughest, of course, will come Friday night, when the Medford team — Tigers, Black Tornado or Peapickers, as you like—will meet Klamath on Modoc field here.

At no time in our memory has a prep team entered the conference season with such a terrific build-up as Medford has had this season. Just about everything possible has been done to frighten the wits out of prospective opponents. Billie Hulen, a former Medford sports-writer who wields a mean forefinger on the typewriter, is writing prep football for the Oregonian, and Billie, unquestionably with complete sincerity and honesty, has been leading the ballyhoo parade for the old home town.

Meanwhile, the Medford team has been doing plenty to justify the outcry. It has defeated Eugene 52-7, Marshfield 40-0, Albany 68-0, and Eureka 38-0.

No Comparisons
It happens, however, that there have been no games which afford a scoring comparison between Medford and Klamath Falls. They have played no common opponents thus far. There isn't an indirect comparison available that means much.

How tough have been the opponents which Medford crushed so decisively? Our only answer to that one is in the scores of their other games. We do not have the Eureka record, but here is the season scoring so far for the Oregon opponents of Medford:

Eugene
26, University HI 0; 24, Springfield 0; 7, Medford 52; 7, Albany 0.

Marshfield
0, Reedport 13; 0, Medford 40; 0, Grants Pass 20; 0, Myrtle Point 13.

Albany
0, Medford 68; 9, North Bend 27; 7, Salem 14; 0, Eugene 7.

Some years ago, Klamath had a terrific early-season scoring record. Billie Hulen, then writing for the Medford Mail Tribune, remarked that Klamath had done a lot of scoring, but that its opponents weren't too hot—that anybody could make touchdowns through a paper bag. As we recall, the Klamath-Medford game thereafter turned out a scoreless tie.

No Belittling
We do not intend here to attempt to belittle the Medford record and prospects. They speak for themselves, and they are most impressive.

But it is just as well to point out that the Black Tornado, Tigers and Peapickers are mere humans, just in case the build-up may have produced some other ideas hereabouts. It would be foolish to intimate to the Klamath Pelicans that they are not up against a most formidable opposition. They are. But there have been many occasions when the mighty have been upset in football, and it can happen again. It's a cinch it will be worth anybody's time watching the Pelicans work at it Friday night.

SOCE TO RENEW CASABA TOURNNEY

Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland, Oct. 18—The Southern Oregon College of Education will resume its invitational, basketball tournament this year following a break of three years caused by the war. Resumption of the tournament will restore a tradition which was initiated by the college in 1927 and carried on for a period of fifteen years prior to the war. During the period, the tournament was the occasion and the Southern Oregon College of Education was the place of meeting for several hundred southern Oregon high school boys annually.

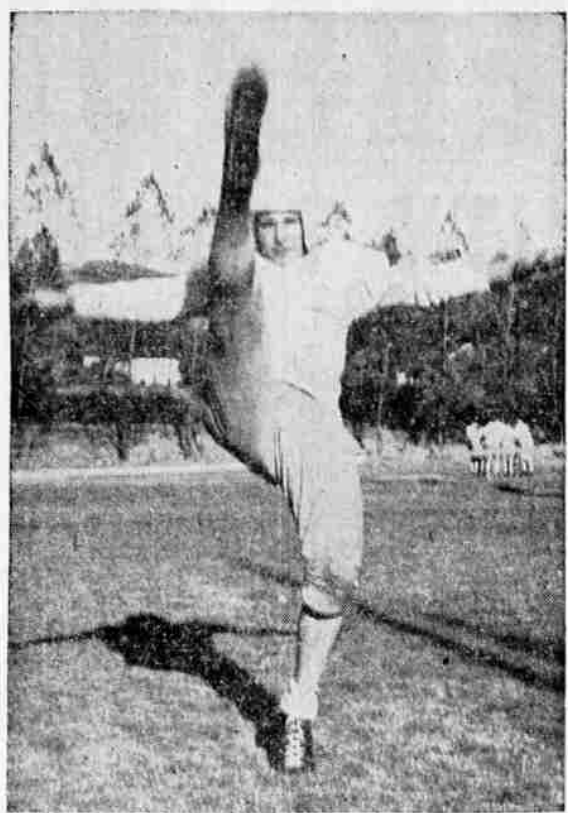

In restoring the tournament, the Southern Oregon College of Education expects to begin where it left off in 1942 with bigger and better tournaments for the future. The number of participating teams at past tournaments has varied from 18 to 32, representing from 10 to 12 counties. With renewed interest in all forms of athletics since close of the war, this year's invitational tournament should beat all former records.

Sensational Klamath Back

Klamath Falls, Oct. 18—Tommy Edwards, sensational sophomore fullback, gets off a long punt during recent practice session in preparation for the game with Medford here Friday night. Poggi Set For Gray Mask

TONIGHT
Gorilla Poggi vs. Gray Mask.
Rufus Jones vs. Buck Davidson.
Angelo Martinelli vs. Herb Parks.

Gorilla Poggi is all set for his match with detested and mysterious Gray Mask in half of the double main event at Medford armory tonight. Poggi, who has a mediocre record in his few local appearances, said he is going all out to bring an end to the Mask's victory string—or else.

Bob Morgan, the original India Rubber Man will appear in a contortion exhibition as an added attraction. Morgan appeared at the Chicago World's Fair and is on a tour of the United States.

Harold (Buck) Davidson, who dropped a narrow decision to Rough Rufus Jones only after a hectic bout about three weeks ago, will face the colored "meame" in the other half of the dual bill.

One of the finest scientific matches of the year looms in the curtain raiser, starting at 8:30, when Herb Parks locks grips with the buckeye Blockbuster, Angelo Martinelli.

Elroy Hirsch Is Center of Major Grid Controversy

Chicago, Oct. 18—(U.P.)—Elroy Hirsch, the famous "crazylegs" of Wisconsin's 1942 football team, today was in the middle of a raging battle between university officials and an owner of a professional football team.

The sore spot was whether Hirsch had signed a contract to play professional football, thereby ending his eligibility at Wisconsin.

John L. Keshin, owner of the Chicago franchise in the new All-America football conference, flatly maintains that Hirsch, now a marine lieutenant, has signed to play with his team upon discharge from the service.

Bevos Swap O'Neil For Five Players

Portland, Ore., Oct. 18—(U.P.)—The Portland Journal today reported that the deal sending shortstop Johnny O'Neil to the Philadelphia Nationals will bring Richard Barrett, Mitchell Metkovich, Walter Flager, Nick Goulsh and one more player to the Portland Beavers.

Barrett is a former Seattle righthanded pitcher and Metkovich was a left hander with Oakland part of last season. Flager is a shortstop and Goulsh an outfielder, and both were with Utica.

Joyce finished the season with an earned-run average of 2.17, in addition to his work on the hill. Bob poked out 44 hits during the season, drove in 20 runs, connected for four doubles, a triple and a home run for a batting average of .321.

GIRL SCOUT CAMP ATTENDANCE GAIN SHOWN BY SURVEY

Past and future projects of the Medford Girl Scout council, recently reviewed for the information of the Community Chest board, told of the enlarged attendance at both day camp and established camp this summer, the need for a Girl Scout forest camp since the Boy Scout camp rental plan no longer fills the need and outlined some of the more interesting projects of the local troops.

The report states that there are now eight Brownie troops, for girls 7 to 10 years of age; five Junior high troops, two senior high troops, 11 intermediate troops, three mixed, intermediate and senior, in rural schools, and five groups in the process of organization. For each troop, which must not number less than eight girls, there are two leaders and three committee members, all adults.

In the supervisory groups there are 18 council members, 10 committee members on the council, 78 leaders and 103 committee members for troops.

Aid Park Plans
One of the interesting projects underway is one which would permit Scouts to work with the city park commission in planning certain sections of the new city park. This summer girls from some troops, under the guidance of forest service officials, selected shrubs and trees which later will be transplanted into a section of the park to be known as the native Oregon corner. Girl Scouts are also collecting home-grown seeds, vegetables especially, to be sent to girls in foreign countries to aid post-war planting.

Scouts also are trained in child-caring and in each school of the city care for pre-school children during meetings of the Parent-Teacher association. Last February an open round table discussion was sponsored by the Girl Scout council where senior high school students presented current world problems.

Special emphasis is being placed this year on the organizing of 'teen age groups, the report relates, and in order that leadership in these groups, and

DUCKS TAKE BLOW
Eugene, Ore., Oct. 18—(U.P.)—Jim Byers, first string fullback and Bill Byers, his brother, a promising halfback, withdrew from the University of Oregon today—and the football squad—because of a housing shortage. Their departure was a serious blow to the team.
