SCIENTIFIC NEGLECT OF MINOR WOUNDS

I hope, my dear children, that you have by now got the antiseptic nonsense out of your heads. Let us just imagine the application of antiseptic lotions, salves and the like promoted healing of a wound, it may be well to state here a few specific facts which no physician or surgeon will have the temerity to dispute, in the opinion of the one-horse-and-buggy doctor who conducts this column. If any physician or surgeon standing in in any doubt at all about this I'll be grateful for his or her view and of course I'll make no allusion to what such a colleague may say to me about it without first submitting anything I propose to say here for his or her approval.

One fundamental principle of good surgery and good home treatment of wounds of any degree is difficult for the ordinary layman, the practical nurse and the well-meaning but untrained neighbor or bystander to learn: scientific neglect.

Probably you won't believe it, but having talked myself into this awkward situation I may as well make the best of it and say that, as nearly as I can learn (and don't forget I'm a plodding old horse-and-buggy doctor), once a wound, surgical or traumatic (accidental is clean, free from disease-producing germs, it will heal best if not disturbed or tampered with for a week, more or less.

That is only one part or feature of scientific neglect. Don't handle, tamper with, put "healing" salves or lotions on, or change the first aid dressing of the wound for several days, unless some complication arises and then leave it to the judgment of the doctor.

This scientific neglect does not mean that the wound should not have rest, whether that involves rest of the entire body or rest of the part injured, as in splints. Often the use of adhesive plaster straps or collodion gives this desirable rest to a wound or sore or fissure, as of the face or about the mouth.

Even if the dressing used on the wound be surgically sterile and the doctor or nurse trained in surgical asepsis, the merest disturbance of the injured tissues must be reckoned a setback to the healing process. That is the reason why, after a delicate skin grafting operation, for instance, the original dressing is left undisturbed for a week or more.

Proper treatment for pain, burning, smarting, feeling of tension or throbbing in a wound is strictly a problem for the physician and should never be left to the judgment of any one other than the physician.

In all ordinary circumstances, if a physician is not available, the safest course is a single application of Mild Tincture of Iodine U. S. P. (best poured on from the vial), and then a covering with any freshly ironed cloth or a pad of sterile gauze (incorrectly called "medicated" cotton) which may be held in place with bandage, adhesive plaster straps or gentle pressure with fingers or hand until bleeding stops or a physician can treat the wound.

PIN-WORM ITCH MAY THREATEN YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH
Don't let your child suffer a single needless minute of distress with Pin-Worms!
Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong. So watch out for the warning signs, especially the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it!
A highly effective way to deal with this annoying itchy nuisance has been made possible. It is based on the medically recognized drug known as mebendazole. This special drug is the vital ingredient in Pin-Worm Tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. J. Jayne & Son.
Pin-Worm Tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. So, if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, get a box of JAYNE'S P-W right away, and follow the directions.
Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Is There A Life Beyond The Grave?
A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," reveals the story of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvement in health. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

The man, a well-known explorer and geographer, tells how he found these strange methods in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned the rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited by a one-man-power-mind, has within him the mind-power of a thousand men or more as well as the energy-power of the universe which can be used in his daily affairs. He states that this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments, from the prolonging of youth, to success in many fields. To that eternal question, "Is There A Life Beyond The Grave?", his answer is astounding.

The author states the time has come for his long-hidden system to be disclosed to the Western world, and offers to send his amazing 9000-word treatise—which reveals many startling results—to sincere readers of this paper, free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mental-Physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. T420, Los Angeles, 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly as only a limited number of the free treatises have been printed.
