but not too big to be friendly

YES, we're the "big" hotel, and because we are the big hotel, statesmen and diplomats, Admirals and Generals, and lots of movie stars just naturally come to The Olympic. Of course we're happy to have them, but actually we are as anxious, in fact more anxious, to have our Northwest neighbors, the apple growers from the Wenatchee Valley, the lumber men from Oregon, the mining men from Spokane, the merchant from Portland.

This is their home in Seattle and we want them to use it. We envision The Olympic as being a sort of headquarters for our neighbors from all parts of the state when they are in Seattle. The place to which citizens of the Northwest come just as naturally, and feel just as much at home, as do citizens of the world. And that is precisely what we would like it to be.

So when you come to Seattle, come to The Olympic. You'll find that while we're big, we're not too big to be friendly, that we are going "all out" to deserve your business. And you'll be surprised at the reasonableness of the bill, too!

MINIATURE RIOT FOLLOWS MASK'S ARMORY VICTORY

A baby riot followed the Gray Mask's win over Harold (Blood and Guts) Davidson in the top main event at last night's wrestling card at the armory. After the Hood had taken the final tumble he started to leave the ring but was met by a swarm of sailors and other irred fans who threatened to "take him on." Rest of the crowd, already leaving the auditorium, rushed back to the ringside and shore patrol and civilian police broke it up before any blows were exchanged. It was several minutes, however, before the mystery man could safely leave the ring.

The Mask took the first spill over his rival in the second round with a body press which followed a series of head butts. Davidson, with the near-capacity crowd behind him instead of against him as usual, used several body flips and a press to annex the second fall in the third canto. "Old Stoneface" took the deciding fall with a press after knocking Davidson into the spectator's laps.

Angelo Martinelli used a body press to take the winning fall from Ernie Plusso in the other half of the twin main event. Martinelli took the first spill in the second round with a Boston crab and Plusso evened the count in the fourth with sonnerburgs and a press.

Tex Porter and Bulldog Jackson went to a draw in the opener, each getting a fall. Promoter Mack Lillard said he would present an outstanding card next Thursday night, Thanksgiving.
