1000 Times More Than Ever

The first Thanksgiving—decreed by Governor Bradford in 1623—celebrated the survival of a minority. Unknowingly, it also marked the birth of a nation made up of minorities—the Puritans of Massachusetts, the burghers of New York, the cavaliers of Virginia, the Indians of a vast frontier.

None, mark you, liked another. With a trait common to minorities, each felt itself a cut above the rest. Yet the history of three centuries shows that when these minorities did get together and founded the greatest, freest, happiest nation of all time, the old animosities somehow vanished.

Our history since the first Thanksgiving shows that the growth of this democracy has been paralleled by the growth of tolerance. Not only has the majority come to understand better the views and problems of the minorities, but the minorities have come nearer to appreciating the common denominators that make for majorities.

Through three centuries the motto of this country has been "United we stand." But the fact has remained, sometimes through bitter tests: "We stand—united!"

Now, 1000 times more than ever, the land we have inherited from early Americans of all faiths, colors, and conditions is made up of minorities on whose survival its future depends. Yet, 1000 times more than ever, history should convince majorities and minorities alike that no conflict can survive the American tradition of mutual tolerance. That's reason for another Thanksgiving—and it's the history of America.

FEW DAYS REMAIN FOR BUYING GIFTS GOING OVERSEAS

"But a few days remain in which to buy gifts for servicemen who will be on troop ships at Christmas time" was the warning issued today by Mrs. Leonard Carpenter, chairman of the Red Cross camp and hospital committee, handling the gift project. "The response of individuals and clubs has been wonderful so far. We plan to take care of the patients in Camp White hospital first, but hope we will have hundreds of gifts for the army and navy men on shipboard."
The gifts are to be taken to the courthouse auditorium Friday and Saturday of this week where they will be wrapped and packaged for shipment. Mrs. Kenneth Parrett, whose husband has just returned home from navy duty, has scheduled volunteers from the American Legion auxiliary, the Colony club, Grey Ladies, PEO chapters BE and AA and church organizations to wrap the gifts. The auditorium will be open from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Posters Made
Mrs. Edna Halvorsen, whose husband is a major in the marine corps overseas, made the colorful posters seen in many shops which are displaying suitable gifts for servicemen, the poster project being under the supervision of Miss Nancy Day, new entertainment chairman of the Grey Ladies. Mrs. O. A. Eden has shopped for ribbon and paper for wrapping.

Mrs. Paul Skinner, publicity chairman for the Red Cross, whose husband is an army officer in Tokyo, planned all radio skits, news articles and window displays for the project. "Men away from home are lonely on Christmas Day," she reminds local people. "If you want this Christmas to be a remembered one for every serviceman, don't forget there are only three more shopping days left."
