Mobile Unit At Gold Hill Tuesday; C. Point Wednesday, Then to Medford

Oregon Central Labor council, declared in announcing that the labor council was doing everything possible to get all industrial workers to register for the chest X-ray. Applications are being collected in the field by Owen Walker.

Mrs. H. O. Colburn, president of the Jackson county council of Parent-Teachers, has carried endorsement of the drive into various Parent-Teacher organizations. Urging members to register for the free X-ray, offered by the Jackson County Public Health association in its anti-tuberculosis campaign, she spoke to the Junior high and Jackson Parent-Teacher associations last week and urged all to cooperate in this drive for better health in communications, forwarded branches of the association.

Record Sought
Members of the Jackson County Public Health association, sponsoring the free chest X-ray, have expressed the hope and belief that Jackson county will establish as fine a record as that realized in Klamath county, when the mobile chest X-ray unit visited that region. The total number of X-rays taken there was 3,105. Of this number there were 82 positive or questionable cases reported and 88 unsatisfactory. There were 270 retakes requested, which means 270 persons were asked to have larger X-rays taken because of troubles indicated in the miniature pictures taken on the mobile unit. Four moderately advanced cases of tuberculosis, previously unknown, were found by the X-ray and two other chest conditions which needed attention.

At Gold Hill Tuesday
The mobile unit will come into Jackson county from Grants Pass and will start the local drive at Gold Hill, where it will be located at the Grange hall November 27. The X-ray on wheels will then roll into Central Point to offer free X-rays to people of that community Wednesday at the public library.

Thursday, the unit will be located at the Timber Products in Medford. Friday the mobile unit will continue to the county courthouse, where pictures will be taken that day and again the following Monday and Tuesday.

Dec. 3 and 4. It will then move on to Ashland to be located at the fire hall Dec. 5 and 6, completing the Jackson county survey.

Children aged 6 to 12 years will be X-rayed only when accompanied by a parent.

GEN. WAINWRIGHT ASHLAND VISITOR EN ROUTE SOUTH

"There must never be another Pearl Harbor, never another Bataan, never another Corregidor," General Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan, told a gathering at Ashland Saturday night in urging a program of universal training with a strong national guard and army reserve.

"A strong country is never attacked," the famous general told Ashlanders. "The attack of the Japanese was encouraged by our unpreparedness in 1941." The general told of MacArthur's final words before leaving the Philippines for Australia, how he said that never before had a force the size of the American 100,000-man garrison at Bataan and Corregidor been so isolated. In simple words the tragic picture of Americans and native troops "burned up" in a 27-day continuous bombardment were told by the man who led the gallant last stand.

The tall, kindly four-star general, "Skinny" Wainwright, passed through Ashland Saturday enroute to California and to an army assignment in the east. His son, Naval Commander Jack Wainwright and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wainwright, accompanied him and were overnight guests of Senator and Mrs. Earl Newby at their home at 120 High street in Ashland. A small dinner party was held for the Wainwrights with Mr. and Mrs. Don McGregor of Grants Pass and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Grey of Medford as guests. A few people visited the Newby home during the evening to meet the distinguished guests, among them being Rep. and Mrs. Frank Van Dyke and Rep. and Mrs. Hilding Bengtson.

General Wainwright expressed considerable interest in the southern Oregon country and is planning to return for steelhead fishing in Rogue river when duties permit. He recalled that his father, one of the long line of Wainwrights who have served the nation in the army, was a lieutenant with forces fighting the Indians in Oregon in pioneer days.

It was apparent that the general is regaining rapidly his health and vigor after his trying days in Japanese prison camps at Formosa, Tokyo, Chemulpo and Sian. He showed the weariness of intensive Victory bond selling appearances and voiced the hope that he might rest when he arrives at Monterey, the home of the Wainwrights.

SNOW GIVES PROMISE OF IRRIGATION SUPPLY

Snows in the high hills the past week give promise of a late irrigation water supply next year, Watermaster Clinton Smith reports. There are now close to two feet at Fish Lake and corresponding amounts in the Siskiyou and at Hiatt Lake. The fall at Fish Lake, main source of supply for the Medford Irrigation district is now

NOTHING we can do can adequately repay the more than 250,000 American heroes who died that we might live.

But we CAN and MUST provide hospital care and treatment for the hundreds and thousands who are maimed and crippled—some in body, some in mind.

To do less would be a lasting reproach to the free institutions of democracy for which THEY fought.

about the same as the entire total for last year.

Watermaster Smith says the early fall will pack, and form a firm foundation for the late winter snows, and barring an exceptional warm spell means late water next summer. The last readings were made last Friday, and considerable snow fell over the week-end, the watermaster says.

OCTOBER AID LESS THAN YEAR BEFORE

General assistance given by the Jackson county Public Welfare commission for October of 1945 fell somewhat below the figures for 1944, according to figures presented at the November meeting of the commission held last week. In October, 1945, the figure was $6,981 while in October of 1944 it reached $7,775. However, the October general assistance was slightly higher than September of this year, which amounted to $6,653.

Old age assistance for October of this year amounted to $31,779 for 871 cases, as compared to $27,346 for 821 cases in October of 1944 and $31,671 for September of this year. Aid to dependent children was also somewhat higher, reaching $5,253 for 160 children in October of this year as compared to $4,624 for 158 children in October, 1944 and $5,172 for 161 children in September of this year.

Eleven children were cared for in foster homes at a cost of $482 in October and blind assistance totaled $583 for 12 cases. These figures vary little from month to month, the report shows.

Irrigation Water Hearing Underway In Circuit Court

The irrigation water hearing of Minnie Straub against P. S. Jensen and others for adjudication of the water rights to Caris Creek, in the Missouri flats section of the Applegate, is underway before Circuit Judge Herbert K. Hanna. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney George M. Roberts and the defendants by James Chinnock of Grants Pass.

The plaintiff seeks a water right for the irrigation of 13.9 acres upon which there is an orchard, grain and hay fields and a garden. It is claimed that in the adjudication of Applegate section rights in 1919, the Caris Creek flow, as far as the plaintiff is concerned was overlooked. The creek is dry most summers.

Plaintiff asks for a decree giving her the water right.

where else will 50c buy so much?

As nearly as we can figure out, it costs about 50 cents a day more to stay at The Olympic than, let us say, the average Seattle hotel. Usually our Northwest neighbors stay about three days. So, actually, it costs you only $1.50 more when you stay at The Olympic.

But where else, and how else, will 50 cents buy so much? At The Olympic you are stopping at a hotel which ranks with the best in the West. It's the center of things in Seattle. Shows, shops, movies, just about everything is within, or about, its block-square walls.

There are three dining rooms affording a choice of dining to suit every preference, and every pocketbook. There are the Coffee Shop and the Grill which serve delicious meals, at modest prices. Or there's the Georgian Room where you may dance while you dine elegantly.

After dark, there's dancing nightly in the swank Olympic Bowl to name bands, imported from New York, to make the evening memorable. So, next time you come to Seattle come to The Olympic. You'll like our friendly, neighborly way of doing things and be surprised how much greater will be the enjoyment of your visit... so little greater the cost.

'SNAFU' TAMING DOWN WHILE IN COUNTY BASTILE

"Snafu," the cursing parrot belonging to Attorney Hugh Collins, former army lieutenant, quartered in the county jail, is taming down his language, his owner and jailer Sorge report. As soon as warm weather comes again, "Snafu" will be placed on probation in the Collins backyard.

Attorney Collins said today the parrot was in good health, contented and enjoying jail life. He visits with the four or five inmates and at times "plays like a puppy."

Many offers have been received by mail to purchase the pet, but it is not for sale. As high as $150 has been offered.

A Portland woman wrote last week saying she would like to have custody of the bird, but not to buy it, and promised to give it good care. "I worked in the shipyards during the war, and anything the parrot might say would not embarrass me," she wrote. Offers to buy "Snafu," or give him a home came from many states, including one from North Carolina.

YOU AND THE AMERICAN LEGION

The American Legion is a cross section of America. For a quarter of a century the Legion has represented the American way—the Constitution and all that it stands for. Small wonder, for the members of the Legion have fought in World Wars I and II for the things that the Constitution grants us.

You know the members of the Legion. You meet them every day. The driver of the bus you take to work. The owner of your favorite restaurant. The president of your bank — and one of the guards, too. The conductor on the train on that last trip you took. Your doctor, the druggist on the corner, the owner of the local theatre and the man who runs the projection machine.

This isn't the entire list. To complete it would require an enumeration of every type and sort of employment, business or profession; every race and creed; every shade of political opinion or affiliation; every degree of financial condition.

The members of the Legion are war veterans, yes veterans of World Wars I and II. But they are more than that — they are men and women imbued with a deep and lasting love and respect for this country and its principles. They are men and women of all colors and creeds, from every walk of life, from widely divergent backgrounds and experiences. But they have this in common — love of country. They like the American way of life here at home and it is their aim to keep it that way.

Because the Legion is founded on such rock-firm foundations, it has survived the onslaughts of other elements that sought to shake it. And that, too, is a tribute to the integrity of 1,500,000 Legion members in over 12,000 posts. The fact that the membership of the Legion has continued to grow through the years, and is now at the highest mark ever reached in its history, is answer enough to the question, "What do the American people think of the American Legion?" From the homes of its members, to national and international affairs, the Legion's strength and understanding are felt, for its power and influence reaches far.

That's what the Legion is. What it does, is another story — a fascinating story... which future messages will tell. The American Legion reaches into the homes and futures of the veterans of World War I and World War II — bringing with it benefits that come only through a group of free men working for the benefit of their country and each other.
