

William Livingston Sends News Article Of Seaplane Tender

William Gene Livingston, GM 3/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Livingston, 513 King street, recently sent home a newspaper article about the USS Barataria, on which he is a crew member. The article, published in Shanghai, China, while the ship was anchored offshore, spoke of the Barataria, a seaplane tender, as being a "typical American navy ship that made an allied victory possible," and gave a complete account of the ship's war history, including its survival of two recent typhoons in the Pacific. Livingston enlisted in the navy in July, 1942, and saw action in Alaska and the Pacific aboard the USS Raleigh, before being transferred to the Barataria. Indians who worked in a recent motion picture filmed at Jackson Hole, Wyo., took their fancy costumes along with them, but didn't get a chance to use them.

Lovelorn Advice Writer Is Stricken By Heart Attack

Washington, Nov. 29.—(U.P.)—Beatrice Fairfax will give no more advice to the Lovelorn. Mrs. Marie Manning Gasch,

70, known to millions of Americans as the "Beatrice Fairfax" whose daily newspaper column tackled problems of the lonely human heart, died at her home here of heart failure yesterday. The funeral will be private. Although she had many imitators, Mrs. Gasch was the first author of "Advice to the Lovelorn" columns and her name has been famed in song, story and humorous anecdote for many years. Los Angeles, Nov. 29.—(U.P.)—Unfavorable weather reduced the 1945 avocado crop to half the preceding year's output, the calavo growers of California disclosed today. The crop of 1,114,950 flats of fruit was the smallest since 1939, the exchange said.
