

MANY JAPANESE CALL M'ARTHUR NATION SAVIOR

General's Fan Mail Offers Suggestions, Criticism—Some Seek Favors.

Tokyo, Nov. 29—(U.P.)—The Japanese may have been fearful of Gen. Douglas MacArthur once, but he rates now as everything from their deliverer to a one-man employment agency, his fan mail disclosed today. Hundreds of letters mailed through the regular Japanese post reach MacArthur's headquarters each week. Some are "crank" letters, others praise him as the savior of Japan. Many ask for favors and a few offer constructive criticism and suggestions that have been incorporated into his directives.

Letters Examined
But every letter or package is examined closely before it reaches the supreme commander's desk, as a precaution against possible attempts on his life.

Most of the fan mail writers register a calm acceptance of Japan's utter defeat, but express a will to build a new and democratic nation.

Some of them are pathetic, a good many ask for jobs, and virtually all are addressed to "Marshal MacArthur."

Rice Not Enough
Yoshihiko Okasaki wrote: "My dear Marshall—I am 58 years old work man. Everyday take care on hour. 3/4 pound rice is make me hungry all day long.

"Please pound rice distribution me one pound rice every day. Then I am never forget your kindness and affections all my life."

Miss Kaoru Migami, who said she attended school for three years in Berkeley, Calif., wrote:

"Yes, we have to suffer deeply but we are happier now . . . our country suffered from the lack of truth more than we can

Seedling Reminder

Mayor Earl L. McNutt of Eugene, left, hands to H. J. Cox, president of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, a Douglas fir seedling, on Cox's departure for Chicago, as a reminder to that city as a reminder that Oregon expects to be producing lumber for many years. Cox, who is secretary-manager of the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association, went to Chicago for a convention of the National Lumber Manufacturers association. The little seedling is the kind which will replace timber such as that shown on the model logging truck in the foreground.

say in the past few years, but we have to suffer more for the building up of the true life in the country."

Would Keep Hirohito
Virtually all of the writers requested that emperor Hirohito be retained on the throne, expressing the opinion that his spiritual leadership would insure the support of the people.

One correspondent, who merely signed himself a Japanese subject, told MacArthur that the measures taken by American occupation forces were "in accord with the sentiments of all intellectual and liberal-minded Japanese people, who are in reality applauding the various directives of general headquarters which have urged our irrefutable government to take drastic measures to the end of democratizing Japan."

Emperor Misled
The writer added that Emperor Hirohito had been misled by his cabinet in supporting the war and "stopped the war when he learned the truth."

One man asked permission to keep his hunting rifle, another accused a neighbor of "war crimes," and many complained about the continued freedom of Japanese bankers. A group of students protested against the admission of former army and navy academy students into their schools.

TIRE PRODUCTION INCREASING FAST

Washington, Nov. 29—(U.P.)—Production of passenger tires has risen sharply in the past few weeks but rationing cannot end immediately, the Office of Price Administration and Office of Civilian Production reported today.

The OPA announced that passenger car tire quota for December will be 2,500,000, the same as in the past six months. It said quotas were announced earlier than usual because of reports that some tire dealers were taking unrationed orders.

The December allotment of large-size truck tires will remain unchanged at 250,000 but the quota of small truck tires—7.50 inches and under—will be cut 50,000 from the November allotments of 350,000 tires. OPA said the small tire quotas had been reduced because of the large number of new trucks requiring these sizes.

Commander of B-29 On Non-Stop Flight Is Medford Visitor

Major John C. Cox, Jr., who commanded one of the Superfortresses which made a non-stop flight from Hokkaido, northernmost Japanese home island to Washington, D. C., November 1, is in Medford as a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Andrews, 1628 East Main street. Mrs. Cox, here with her husband, is a sister of Mr. Andrews.

The plane which Major Cox commanded on the historic flight made the best time for the trip. The bombers flew the great circle route across the Pacific, via Agouti to Kodiak, Sitka, Port St. John, Winnipeg, and Detroit. Shortly after, their record was bettered by another bomber which took off from Guam and flew non-stop to Washington.

Major Cox, now on terminal leave from the army, and Mrs. Cox will leave in about 10 days for Palm Springs where they will visit relatives of the major. Before entering the service the officer was regional merchandising manager for the DeSota corporation.
