"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalis if the true cause of your trouble is constipation. In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly. What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkali—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet. Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Schoenfeld, dean and director of the Oregon Experiment station and the Oregon Extension service, speaks on "Will We Continue to Feed the World."

Veerkamp To Speak
L. W. Veerkamp, orchardist from Placerville, Calif., will open the Thursday afternoon session at 1:15, speaking on "Bordeaux Sprays for Blight Control" and at 2 p. m. Dr. A. L. Strand, president of Oregon State college, will speak. Motion pictures of new type sprayers and production equipment will be shown at 2:30 p. m. by William Abildgaard, general sales manager of the Food Machinery corporation and at 3:30 p. m. the annual business meeting and election of officers will be held by the society.

First on Friday's program, beginning at 9:30 a. m., will be a survey of the farm labor situation for 1946 by J. R. Beck, state supervisor of the Emergency Farm Labor board and at 10 a. m. colored pictures of fruit marketing will be shown by Grove Dye, standardization department, California Fruit Exchange.

Post-war Topic
"Post-war Agriculture" will be discussed by F. L. Ballard, associate director of the Oregon Extension service and "Bees and Pear Pollination" by George H. Vansell, division of bee culture of the Agricultural Research administration, during the remainder of the morning session.

The afternoon meeting Friday will open with a discussion of methods of applying hormone sprays to prevent pre-harvest drop by L. P. Batjer, senior pomologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Two remaining speakers will be Frank McKennon, chief of the division of plant industry, State Department of Agriculture, talking on "Oriental Fruit Moth in Oregon" and R. G. Bardwell, Medford, manager of the winter pear control committee, who will talk on "Marketing of Winter Pears."

CHAMPION BULL BRINGS $7,000

Chicago, Dec. 5—(U.P.)—Edelyn Royal Leader XXII, the grand champion bull of the Chicago fat stock show brought a record price of $7,000 at auction yesterday.

Hal Williams, Madera, Calif., bought the animal, a Shorthorn exhibited by Thomas E. Wilson, Wilson, Ill.

The reserve grand champion, Helfred Air Pilot, shown by F. W. Hubbell, Des Moines, Ia., was purchased by Otto H. Oswald and Son, Acton, Mont., for $2,200.

Each of the top 10 bulls up for sale brought an average of $2,082.50. Sixty-six head of bulls, most of them yearlings, brought a total of $48,105.

Total War Cost Near 2 Trillion Says Researcher

Washington, Dec. 5—(U.P.)—Want to know what World War II cost the world?

According to a survey by Researcher James H. Brady and American university here, it was about $1,154,000,000,000 for armament and war materials and about $230,000,000,000 in property damage.

That doesn't include cost of armaments and property damage in China, for which figures were not available.

The survey placed U. S. expenditures for war material at $317,600,000,000. Russia spent $192,000,000,000 and the United Kingdom $120,000,000,000.

The war cost the axis powers about $468,939,000,000, with Germany spending $272,900,000,000, Italy $94,000,000,000 and Japan $56,000,000,000.

U. S. Has Supply Of Atomic Bombs

Hollywood, Dec. 5—(U.P.)—The United States now possesses between 100 and 200 atomic bombs, all of the "small" variety, Dr. Linus Palling of California Institute of Technology said last night.

"There is no reason to think that there may not be 1000 next year," he told the Hollywood Independent Citizens Committee of Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Larger bombs than those now developed are to come, he added.

GOLD HILL MAN IS HONORED FOR HEROIC SERVICE

T/S Arthur J. Shoemaker of Gold Hill has been awarded the bronze star medal for heroic service on Okinawa. He is an aid man in the 382d Infantry Regiment for the 98th "Dead-eye" Division.

In awarding T/S (then Pfc.) Shoemaker the medal, Major General J. L. Bradley, Division Commander, cited his as follows:

"A machine gun platoon was under heavy enemy mortar and artillery fire, when a member of the platoon was seriously wounded. Pfc. Shoemaker unhesitatingly left the comparative safety of his foxhole and rushed to his assistance, although the heavy fire was still falling. Realizing that immediate medical treatment was necessary, Pfc. Shoemaker bore his comrade to a place of safety and administered first aid. He then carried him two hundred yards to the Battalion Aid Station although by this time it was dark. Pfc. Shoemaker's heroic act undoubtedly saved his comrade's life and was an inspiring example to all who witnessed it."

T/S Shoemaker is the son of Mrs. Lola V. Shoemaker of Gold Hill. He attended the Gold Hill school, and prior to his entry into the army he was employed at the Pacific Cement Plant in Gold Hill.

GIRL SCOUTS AID SALE OF SEALS

Medford Girl Scouts have joined other volunteer workers in assisting the Jackson County Public Health Association in the annual Christmas Seal sale. Mrs. Robert Sleeter, chairman of the Medford booth sale committee, announced today. Mrs. Sleeter said that the Scouts have volunteered to take booth sales for the two Saturdays.

The Scouts, according to Mrs. Marjorie Hopkins, Scout leader, are glad to give their services to the Health Association as one of their civic activities because they "realize that Christmas Seals stand for better health and they are happy to have some part in promoting their sale."

The booths down town are in charge of the Lady Elks today. Presiding are Mrs. R. G. Phair, Mrs. Jeanne Kent, Mrs. Fred Rehling, Mrs. Bellinger, Mrs. Al Piche, Sr., and Mrs. G. G. Stagg.

The Kiwanian Dames will carry on the sale Thursday with the following women assisting: Mrs. Edward Niles, Mrs. Dick Milnes, Mrs. George Frey, Mrs. L. A. McCormick, Mrs. Donald Faber, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Dee Stahl.

Lockheed Buzzings Jammed Doors and Upset Cows, Claim

Los Angeles, Dec. 5—(U.P.)—Lockheed aircraft terminal today answers a damage suit charging that its neighbors suffered $100,000 worth of inconvenience when vibrations of airplane motors jammed their doors and upset their dairy cows.

One of four property owners suing the terminal, Fred Sheffer, of Roscoe, Cal., testified that the vibrations jammed the doors in his house and he and his wife had to go in and out through the windows. Dairyman Glenn O. Lynch, another plaintiff, previously testified that his cows were made neurotic by buzzing airplanes and quit giving milk.

Sustained Timber Should Be Open To All, Is Contention

Eugene, Ore., Dec. 5—(U.P.)—Contentions that operators who do not own land in the proposed Siuslaw sustained yield timber unit in Lane and Douglas counties should have the privilege of operating within the unit, on an equal basis with those who do have land there, featured the closing sessions here yesterday of a hearing aimed at setting up a cooperative sustained yield program among private, state and federal groups in the Siuslaw area.

Speakers asserted the plan as set up would allow operations only by those who own land in the unit now, and that since public timber lands were involved, the opportunity should be open to all. Eugene, Ore., Dec. 5—(U.P.)—Impossible but that if a practical way could be suggested it would get consideration.

Eliery Foster, research director for the international woodworkers of America, CIO, asserted the basis for allowing an operation in the area should be evidence of ability and intent to operate for the best sustained yield program possible. Foster urged also that under the program camps should be abolished so workers could have the advantage of permanent homes and schools for their children.

U. S. Senator Guy Cordon, whose work prepared the way for the present program, expressed sympathy for the idea and said he hoped to see it included. Cordon declared the hearing an unqualified success. He said it was democracy at work. Out of the hearing, he declared, must come an arrangement which will give the greatest protection to all interested groups.

Lumbermen Object
Frank Reed, attorney representing the newly-formed western association of lumbermen and loggers, said while this group supports the idea of a sustained yield program, its members contend inauguration of the law on its present basis would eliminate 70 to 80 per cent of the operations now within the unit, as well as a number of mills in the proposed surrounding marketing area. He said operators contended a number of Lane county communities would become ghost towns.

Joel Davis Wolfsohn assistant commissioner of the general land office at Washington, who presided, allowed Reed and others 30 days to file briefs setting forth their contentions.

Orville N. Miller, operator of the Mt. Jefferson Lumber Company and former president of the west coast lumbermen's association, made a similar plea, stressing the idea that opportunities should be held open to younger men who could do as good or perhaps a better job than those who will be allowed to operate.

Outsiders Barred
Miller asked Walter Horning, chief forester for the O and C land administration, why it was impossible for "outsiders" to get in. Horning replied that in working out the program it was found that certain practical operating requirements made it
