FUNERAL SET FOR ASHLAND PIONEER

Ashland, Dec. 5—Last rites will be held here Thursday at the Episcopal church at 3 p. m. for George Walling Loosley, 89, who died at his home in Ashland, Dec. 4. The deceased was the first white child born in the old Oregon settlement of Champeer, his birth having taken place there Aug. 16, 1856.

Mr. Loosley's father built and operated the first flour mill at Champeer for Dr. McLaughlin of the Hudson's Bay company, and as a lad Loosley worked for the Indian service and during the Modoc Indian wars served as a messenger for the army. He owned and operated the first steamboat ever used on Klamath Lake. In later years he operated a ranch, and retired from ranching about six years ago to live in Ashland.

The deceased had been a Master Mason since January of 1879, and was a charter member of Ashland Masonic lodge and also belonged to the Ashland Eastern Star and the Episcopal church. The funeral service will be conducted by A. H. MacDonnell of the Episcopal church assisted by Macons. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

Survivors are the widow, Emma, who resides at the family home, 94 Third street, two sons, E. K. Loosley of Klamath Falls, and C. V. Loosley of Ft. Klamath, six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Loosley celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary last May.

WILLIAM FREEMAN FUNERAL FRIDAY

Services for William J. Freeman, who passed away at his home in Central Point Saturday, will be held in the Conger-Morris Chapel at 1:30 p. m. Friday with Mr. A. J. Hanby officiating. Interment will be in Siskiyou Memorial Park.

He was born in Greenwood, Ill., on March 22, 1867. In 1889 he moved to Salem where he attended business college. Two years later he moved to Southern Oregon, where he taught school for a year at Woodville, now Rogue River, and for a year at Willow Springs. On May 3, 1894, he was united in marriage to Minnie Owen, who preceded him in death. In 1893 he opened an implement and harness store in Central Point and operated this until his retirement in 1930.

He was a member of the A. O. U. W. Lodge and very active in civic affairs in Central Point. He served for many years on the school board and was instrumental in organizing the Mutual Telephone system which is still in operation.

Surviving are three children; Henry A. and Leonard J. Freeman, and Mrs. Lola F. Kincaid, all of Central Point. There are also six grandchildren, a great grandchild, a sister, Mrs. Guy E. Dygert of Ill., and a brother, Lyle Freeman, Ill.
