Valley people who like their winter weather cold and clear are enjoying a snappy spell, with the thermometer registering the season's low this week. This seems to encourage the Christmas shoppers, for streets and shops are crowded with bundle-laden people.

Medford high school basketballers have been under going nightly drills in preparation for the opening game tonight with the Eugene Axemen. Bob Watson, Jerry Ross, Darrell Riggs, Earl Stelle and Jim Cave of the football squad have switched to the hoop game.

Chamber of Commerce directors passed a resolution this week suggesting that this country force foreign nations seeking funds here to sell their own governmental bonds directly to the people rather than negotiating inter-governmental loans, and are mailing copies to our congressional delegation.

Nina Tuttle was winner of the county Victory Queen bond contest but was defeated in Portland by the LaGrande entry.

Ted Huber became an Eagle Scout and the annual Boy Scout meeting and Don Newbury was awarded a Silver Beaver. Larry Schade was elected council chairman again. He has served on the council about 20 years.

Ten officers and 34 men have been assigned to the air base here for an army air corps search and rescue unit. At the annual meeting of the Oregon Horticultural society members were told that labor shortages would be acute during the 1946 harvest season, heard many talks on insect control and other problems and were told of new developments in orchard machinery.

A United States Geological Survey expert is in Medford preparing to install an instrument in Crater Lake which will register sound. It is hoped the instrument may determine whether there is a recurrence of volcanic action under the lake waters.

Three sawmills in this area have signed agreements with the AFL union and the men have returned to work. Others are continuing the strike, now in its 11th week.

Plans for a new Girl Scout permanent camp at Lake of Woods were announced at the annual meeting of that group.

Among the week's interesting letters were those from Sgt. John Eddy and Cpl. Douglas Young. Eddy wrote of conditions in the Philippines where he says men are getting very tired of sitting around waiting to be brought home, and Young wrote from Assam, India.

Alex McDonald has been discharged from the navy and will return to the high school staff here soon. Also home is Rodney A. Witham, whose service included a period in a German prisoner camp, and he plans to enter school soon. Others discharged are Sgt. Ray C. Erickson, who was in the Pacific three years; William G. Ryan, seaman who participated in the Philippine and Okinawa campaigns; Champ Pitts, who served almost four years in the air corps; Al Wimer, on terminal leave; Robert W. Sage, who served with the 87th division, and John Colley, who served with the navy, armed guard.

The Ousterhout family is planning a holiday reunion. Lt. Lawrence Ousterhout has arrived home from Belgium. Cpl. Bill and his wife are coming from Camp Campbell and Gerald, navy student at the University of Colorado, is due soon. The fourth son, John, manages reports soon for overseas service.

Flight Lt. Lorne A. Webster and his bride, the former Nell Zimmers of Vancouver, B. C., have arrived in Medford to live. Lt. Webster spent 28 months overseas with the RCAF. ### Camp White Doctor Contacted in Hunt For Pilgrim Heirs

Through the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Commerce and Civics of the Oranges and Maplewood, New Jersey, recently contacted Capt. Frank G. Balch, Jr., chief of surgery at the Camp White naval hospital, for Everett P. Balch, president of the New Jersey group.

President Everett Balch is presiding on a nation-wide campaign among the Balch family for funds to restore a dwelling erected in 1638 at Beverly, Mass., by a Pilgrim ancestor of the family. The house, said to have the oldest continuous title of any home in this country and held originally under a king's grant, is now in the hands of an historical society but is in need of repairs and restoration.

Capt. Balch, originally from Boston, states that he had visited the house and examined its period furniture. The captain came to Medford in August and with Mrs. Balch and their daughter, Virginia, junior high school student, resides at 1810 East Main street. Their son, Frank G. Balch, III, is a student at Harvard University.
