SHADY COVE MILL IN DEEP WATERS

Shady Cove, Jan. 2—High water here over the week-end flooded the Seggsman mill area to depths ranging from six to ten feet, Mrs. E. W. Seggsman said today.

Six feet of water under the mill itself necessitated the removal of several motors, she remarked. Part of the bank between the mill and the Seggsman residence was washed out.

Mrs. Seggsman stated that three feet of water flooded Shady Cove Edgewater Park and damaged several cabins. Similar damage to tourist parks above here is reported.

The mill has been closed by the strike.

AAF Combat Fliers Plan to Keep Feet Solidly On Ground

Fort Worth, Tex. —(U.P.)—A spot check of AAF enlisted men at Fort Worth Army Air Field reveals that few combat fliers have any desire to become post-war commercial fliers.

"I flew some 2,100 hours for Uncle Sam, but I'll keep my feet on the ground as far as commercial flying is concerned," said Tech. Sgt. Allan W. Hicks, 28, an Eighth Air Force veteran. "I've had enough," was the reaction of Staff Sgt. George W. Walker, 25, another Eighth Air Force veteran with 925 hours of combat flying to his credit.

"Nuts to flying after the war," was the comment of Staff Sgt. Oscar L. Dodd, 20-year-old veteran of the Fifteenth Air Force with 550 hours of flying time. "I'm interested in a new automobile."

Sgt. Joseph J. Bolee, 27, veteran of the Pacific Theater, said he's going back to work for the Chicago post office "but I'd like to fly if the post office gets planes."

GIRL SCOUTS TO HAVE KEY ROLE IN WAR NATIONS

Altoona, Pa. —(U.P.)—A key role as an antidotal agency for aggressor nations' youth movements will be played by Girl Scouts in the rehabilitation of war-ravished countries.

Governments and diplomatic officials everywhere are enthusiastically supporting International organization of Girl Scouts, according to Scout official Geraldine Howard, who announced the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts will meet in Switzerland in November. It will be the association's first meeting since the beginning of the war.

Miss Howard cited unfeeling determination of European despotic groups to reorganize immediately after release from axis oppression. "One of the great signs in Paris, following liberation, were the Girl Scouts marching 20 deep down the Champs Elysees. And the movement had doubled itself during the German occupation and in spite of German occupation."

"A full year before Mussolini was deposed, the Italian Girl Scouts began rebuilding their organization. The first groups met secretly in the Roman catacombs, right under the noses of the Fascists."

"And when Queen Wilhelmina returned to Holland, she was met by Dutch Girl Guides, dressed in the uniforms they had hidden and saved for years."

YOUTH'S RADIO STUDIO PROVIDES MUSIC IN CHURCH

Schenectady, N. Y. —(U.P.)—Sunday is a special day for 16-year-old Philip B. Clark of Schenectady.

He sits in his home-made basement radio studio waiting for a "cue" from the minister of Faith Lutheran Church. When the light flashes, young Clark spins a turntable and organ music fills the church from a wooden loudspeaker behind the pulpit. It is the church's only source of music.

When the area's youngest licensed radio engineer was unable to make up his mind whether to make music or engineering his hobby, he decided to combine the two.

Clark built the cellar radio studio and control room. It is about the size of an average clothes press, contains a wooden control panel, a turntable with two speeds, and a large wooden shelf for records.

In addition to supplying the church with music, Clark also furnishes "canned music" for the family through loudspeaker and radio connections throughout the house.

At times he even entertains with "live music" from an organ. Clark built the organ about two years ago. Materials used include toothpicks, a vacuum cleaner and a keyboard from an ancient organ.

The youthful engineer plays by ear and apparently inherits his talent for music from his mother, who was once a singer. His knack for puttering with electrical apparatus probably comes from his father, a General Electric Co. engineer.

FATHER-SON FLY B-25
Santa Ana, Cal. —(U.P.)—Col. Fay O. Dice, president of the army retiring board here, revealed that he flew 25 observation missions in the China-Burma-India theater, with his own son as a co-pilot on a B-25. It is believed to be the only such father-son combination of World War II.

Motorcycle Nets City Profit For 6-Months Period

St. Louis —(U.P.)—Bet you never made more than 400 per cent on a six-month investment. The City of St. Louis did. Last June Park Commissioner Palmer B. Baumes ordered the purchase of a motorcycle so Forest Park police could enforce a 30-mile-an-hour park speed limit.

The machine cost $500. Since it was bought, Baumes said, the city has netted $2,675 in fines from park traffic violators.
