Your Health and It's Care

NOW SEE WHAT I MEAN?

We like your column although we do not always agree with you. "We" means our entire family. Our pet peeve is the subject of cri.

Dr. Brady

Cri, let Ol' Doc Brady explain for the benefit of casual or new readers, should be pronounced "kree". It is a coined word, an abbreviation for the cumbersome term Common Respiratory Infection. I insist on use of the term cri instead of the term cold, because when you call it cri you are honest with yourself and everybody else—you give every body fair warning that you are coming down with nobody knows what at this stage and they had better keep far enough from you to be beyond your polite conversational spray range—that is anywhere up to five feet—the range increases to ten or twelve feet if you happen to be one of those ignoramuses who sneeze and cough without covering mouth and nose with handkerchief, hand, screen or mask to prevent spread of the respiratory infection to other persons. And please remember, you never know, and probably even a physician cannot tell in the stage of invasion, whether the cri will prove to be measles, diphtheria meningitis infantile paralysis influenza a mild coryza or a fatal pneumonia. Thank you. Now let the correspondent tell us more about that pet peeve.

. . . the subject of cri. Darned if we can see what difference it makes whether you say cold when your eyes water and your nose drips and you feel generally out-of-sorts. Calling it cri doesn't help at all. (E. M. D.)

Not a chance that we can ever agree about it unless you are willing to accept as sound and reasonable this truth:

Three fourths of the illness in the community at least the illness that requires medical treatment or care, is the immediate or remote effect of respiratory infection— preventable respiratory infection, for the most part, if only people and physicians and health authorities were not so reluctant to give up their nineteenth century views and take a twentieth century attitude.

If you call your cri "cold" you are simply trying to deceive yourself or your friends, so that you and they will feel no compunction or resentment about spread of whatever you have got to your playmates, pupils, fellow workers, members of your household and any strangers who may be so unfortunate as to do business with you, sit near you in church, theater, on train or bus. On the other hand, if you call it "cri" until you know precisely what it will turn out to be, you play fair. That is the golden rule of hygiene.

In the booklet "Call it Cri" I give the best suggestions and advice I can give concerning the prevention and treatment of acute respiratory infections, and chronic "catarrh", bronchitis, sinusitis and the like. It contains instructions for making and using a simple fool-proof cough medicine for child or adult. The nostrums popularly used to kill cough—you finish it. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed letter size envelope—not a miniature—for the booklet.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Running Ear

Son had a running ear for over 15 years. Several ear specialists treated him without any results. I saw an item in your column, sent for the instructions, and my son used the drops about a month. His ear doesn't run any more. (Mrs. R. E. O.)

Answer—Which may be coincidence or drops. Any reader may have the instructions on written request—please do NOT use a clipping. Inclose stamped self-addressed envelope.

Pirate

A local drug company, as you will see in the clipping inclosed, offers "Dr. Brady's Dental Cream", and another company offers "Dr. Brady's Iodine Ration Tablets". (A. F.)

Answer—If either company pretends to offer what I recommend, you may be sure the company is untrustworthy. I never authorize such use of my name.

Not So

In a column in our paper this statement appeared:

"According to the Mayo Brothers Clinic of Rochester, 60 per cent of all children born to cigarette-smoking mothers die before they reach the age of 2."

Can you tell me whether this is so? (H. A. C.)

Answer—All I can tell you is that the idea is nonsensical.
