Gardeners Make Winter Bouquets At Last Meeting

Morning session of the Medford Garden club was given over Thursday to making winter bouquets from dried grasses and other materials under the instruction of Mrs. R. N. Finney. Some of these arrangements were then given to the Chamber of Commerce, USO and the Camp White hospital.

Mrs. R. T. Nichol gave an interesting talk on landscaping during the afternoon meeting, illustrating her talk with charts, and Mrs. John Litster contributed a paper on the Pacific Madrona tree which also proved enjoyable.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. L. G. Knox and Mrs. R. C. Skinner. Mrs. Martin Heikamp was chairman for the tea hour, and was assisted by Mrs. M. M. Morris, Mrs. L. J. Knox and Mrs. E. M. Wilson. Mrs. R. G. Beach and Mrs. Frances Cochran poured.

School, Society Announce Concert By College Head

Under joint sponsorship of the Medford high school music department and the Medford Musical society, Ralph Dobbs, concert pianist and new head of the Willamette university piano department, will be heard at the high school auditorium Friday, Jan. 18.

It is reported that Mr. Dobbs comes highly recommended "as a particularly colorful and dramatic musician who possesses rare recreative imagination and emotional spontaneity in addition to faultless technique." He was invited to Medford because of the strong enthusiasm with which he has been received by audiences in northern Oregon since his arrival at the university. Miss Mabel Nansen, school music supervisor states.

Relatives Visit At Brockway Home

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brockway of Stewart avenue entertained a number of relatives and friends during the holidays. Here at various times were Mrs. Brockway's sister, Mrs. R. E. Waldron, Barbara Mae and Margaret Lou Waldron, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waldron and son, all of St. Helena, Calif., and another sister, Mrs. Ruth Lambert, Hawthorne, Calif., with her two sons, Bob and Billy. Accompanying the Lamberts were Mrs. Verna Ernst and daughter, Lois. Robert Waldron had just returned from Okinawa where he had been stationed for many months and Bob Lambert had recently returned from Europe where he had been on duty with a field hospital.

At one time six great grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Jones, Mrs. Brockway's parents, were visiting at the Brockway home, including sons and daughters of Bob and Ralph Waldron and sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Elmore of Applegate.

During the holidays the Jacksonville H. E. C. held the annual Christmas dinner at the Brockway home and Mrs. Jones entertained the Methodist Bible class for the annual Christmas party.

Before the holidays Mr. and Mrs. Brockway and their daughter, Marella, visited relatives in Spokane, Wenatchee and Seattle, Wash., and Gaston, Ore.

S-Sgt. Matlack Ends Army Service With Fine Record; Glad To Return

Boy, he's glad to be back! Just about four days ago as S/Sgt. Ralph J. Matlack he was mustered out of the army at Fort Lewis from the third battalion headquarters company of the 20th infantry. Matlack can boast of a service jacket decorated with fancy "fruit salad," ribbons which denote action at New Guinea, a beachhead at Luzon and occupation in the seething cauldron of Korea. Too, he has a distinguished unit citation, the infantry combat medal and the bronze star.

The young sergeant was mighty pleased when ship's officers changed the course of his returning vessel and landed him at Portland, where he was discharged immediately. Some of his other buddies who went to Seattle and points in California are still on board boats awaiting landing orders. Matlack received his discharge at Fort Lewis and stopped off in Portland for a two day visit with his big (and we do mean big) brother, Jack Matlack, manager for the J. J. Parker theaters in that city.

The Medford boy is reluctant to discuss much of his war service. He does, however predict a short service by American occupation forces in Korea, which will be welcome news to families which still have sons, brothers and husbands in this particular sector of the Orient.

Behind the counter at Matlack's grocery store today, Medford citizenry can greet handsome young Ralph J. Matlack, 21-year-old son of the owner, Mrs. L. J. Matlack. Uncle Sam nodded to young Matlack more than two and one-half years ago and he answered the call to colors to serve with distinction in such far-away places as New Guinea, Luzon and Korea.

President Truman Against Slow-Down In Fight On Polio

"There can be no slow down in the fight against disease," President Truman has declared, as he pledged his cooperation in the annual March of Dimes campaign for funds to combat infantile paralysis, now under way throughout the country. "Our victories abroad must be followed by a victory on the home front against this common enemy of all mankind," the president continued. "I am certain that no American can fail to respond to such a challenge. "For years I have followed

Roosevelt. I know that it has given new hope to countless sufferers from poliomyelitis and that it has restored thousands of men, women and children to active lives in the community."

The word "derrick" comes from the name of an English hangman of the 17th century.
