

GI'S IN KOREA TO APPEAL TO PUBLIC

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 15—(U.P.)—A committee representing all GI's in Korea came away from an interview with Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson last night still dissatisfied with the army's demobilization program and determined to carry their complaints directly to the American public.

The four GI committeemen said they had collected a fund of $1,200 for an advertisement in the Washington Post explaining their views on demobilization. The advertisement, they said, would protest the slow-up in army discharge rates and would state that the GI's in Korea favored a long-range demobilization plan with the draft continuing until rotation of all army personnel was assured.

Patterson told a press conference after his meeting with the committee that he also favored getting overseas veterans home as soon as replacements were available. But he declared his opposition to all mass demonstrations by American servicemen and said he believed soldiers should take their complaints to their commanding officers.

Rats Like Pop-Corny Movies

To the editor: You have protested long and loudly against the habit of Medford theatre-goers eating popcorn while watching the movies. I heartily agree. It is bad enough when only the people partake, but when rats—four-legged ones—join the feast it is, as Alice in Wonderland would say, "too much of a muckness." Last Saturday evening I dropped into a Medford theatre and presently found my eyes straying from the film to the rats in the aisle. They were coyly nibbling at popcorn dropped by patrons. Big, fat, sleek rats they were, first-comers soon being joined by their cousins and their uncles and their aunts. Surely there is some union of the Actor's Guild which will rise in protest against this entertainment by non-union members.

And let us suppose that these rats should tire of their vegetarian diet and nibble at a shapely calf. It would be disconcerting to say the least, in fact the resulting pandemonium would in all likelihood put a good healthy fire to shame.

Aside from an esthetic distaste for rats, I have no desire to contract any of the horrible diseases they are known to carry. Isn't it time that the services of a Pled Piper were solicited?

CAMP COMMANDER UNDER RESTRAINT

London, Jan. 15—(U.P.)—A U. S. army court martial ordered criminal charges filed against the former commandant of the American military prison at Lichfield today and restrained him from further contact with witnesses who have testified to brutalities committed against GI's at the Lichfield guardhouse. The court's ruling came after Prosecutor Capt. Earl J. Carroll, San Francisco, Calif., alleged that the ex-commander, James A. Killian, had instructed witnesses in their testimony.

Witnesses testified during the trial that GI's imprisoned in the Lichfield guardhouse were punished severely for minor infractions of the camp rules. Several former inmates said they were forced to scrub the floors with toothbrushes, made to eat their meals in five minutes and to stand with their noses and toes pressed against a prison wall.

BODY SNATCHERS IN BLACK MARKET

Paris, Jan. 15—(U.P.)—Paris body snatchers have started a new black market in unclaimed corpses, the newspaper Cite-Soir reported, but no one seems to know just how and where the cadavers are being sold.

Cite-Soir said the ghoulsh racket was uncovered as a result of recent complaints by French medical schools that they were not getting enough cadavers for their dissection classes.

The newspaper hinted at the existence of an organized band of thieves of a "very special type" who, for reasons not quite clear, were interested in side-tracking bodies which normally would be used for dissection by surgical students.

Cite-Soir said persons responsible for the burial or other disposition of unclaimed corpses in Paris were selling the cadavers to the body-snatchers who, in turn, were using them for some mysterious black market racket.

War Brides' Ship Under Quarantine

San Francisco, Jan. 15—(U.P.)—The old liner S. S. Permanent, carrying 150 Australian war brides and children of American servicemen, was quarantined in the harbor for measles and chicken pox today when it arrived from Auckland, New Zealand, after a 48-day voyage.

Port quarantine officers found 25 cases of measles and chicken pox among the women and children, and about 75 more exposures.

Union May Expell Petrillo's Enemy

Chicago, Jan. 15—(U.P.)—Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, founder and director of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., appears today before the executive board of the American Federation of Musicians to show why he should not be expelled from the union.

Maddy, who has waged a one-man campaign against AFM president James C. Petrillo, announced bluntly last night that he intended to "continue teaching music and to fight any and all restrictive bans or edicts that would interfere with the rights of educators to teach any children."
