LEAVE IT FOR THE OLD FOLKS

I signed the pledge when I was a kid and have kept it. Now your advice is to take a nip. Perhaps I need it. I am just past seventy, apparently in good health, tend 3000 chickens, walk three miles for my morning mail, the rest of the day putter around the place—just put a new roof on my 12-room house this fall, doing it all myself... I think I work too hard, but I don't, and I'll tell you why—I never work long enough or hard enough to become winded or fatigued... (F. L. R.)

I hope, sir, you didn't take a nip last year, you wrote me that might account for your notion that my advice is to take a nip. "A nip," I apprehend, is a nip or small draft; a dram; a quick one; a snifter; a slug of liquor. Further, the term "nip" connotes secrecy, drinking on the sly, in some dimly lighted hole where rats feel at home.

Certainly I do not advise and never have recommended or approved drinking any kind of liquor.

I do believe a glass of wine, beer or ale once or twice a day is a blessing for many elderly people. Mind, though, this does not imply that I advise all elderly folk to take beer, ale or wine. Indeed I doubt that elderly folk who have kept their teeth or dentures functioning efficiently will need the narcotic action of the alcohol in beer, ale or wine to make their old age enjoyable. It is the poor, ignorant old people who have lost most of their teeth and limped along for years with digestion seriously impaired and nutrition consequently on the downgrade, who have to turn to this narcotic to make life endurable.

I hope I am not unduly pessimistic, yet I would not advise any old geezer to take something I, Doc Brady, would not take myself—and I'd as lief take a shot of cocaine once or twice a day as drink a glass of ale or wine. But then, I'm young yet, thanks to vitamins, iodine, ration, Somersaults, Bely Breathing, Lawn Bowling and a fine flock of pedigreed pipes and, when I can cadge it, fuel to burn in 'em.

So I say, leave beer, ale and wine to the old folks. From what you tell me of your way of living, brother, you are not yet ready to retire to the chimney corner.

FIFTH MCGINTY BROTHER HOME FROM WAR DUTY

Clifford M. McGinty, one of six brothers in the service and who served in the marine corps as a platoon sergeant, was discharged Jan. 11 and has returned to his home, 524 North Riverside avenue.

McGinty, who enlisted Sept. 2, 1942, was a marine paratrooper and participated in the Solomon Islands, Vella La Vella and Bougainville battles. He returned to the United States when the paratroopers were disbanded in February of 1944 and again went overseas in September of 1944, this time with the Fifth marine division which participated in the Iwo Jima campaign and the occupation of Kyushu, Japan.

The marine was awarded the good conduct medal and a letter of commendation by the commanding general of the Fifth marine division for service rendered at Iwo Jima. He is a former student of Jacksonville grade and high school.

All but one of the brothers have now been released. Still in service is Paul McGinty, aboard the navy aircraft carrier "Shangri La."

McGinty served with the first special service force of the army, Edward McGinty fought with General Patton's Third army, Lowell Hellman served with the army medical corps and Gerald Quinlin with the army.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGinty, reside near Jacksonville.

Prospect

Prospect, Jan. 22—Mrs. Ed Silinger and little son and baby daughter of Lakeview arrived here recently to join Mr. Silinger, who has been employed at the Ross-DeArmond mill for the past several weeks.

Lawrence Tribett, who received his honorable discharge from the navy last month after nearly four years service, has enrolled as a second year student at Southern Oregon College of Education at Ashland. Tribett is majoring in physical education and history.

Another local high school graduate recently discharged from the army, Donald Vaughn, has also enrolled at SOCE.

Friends here recently learned of the death of Charles Gray, a former Prospect resident. Gray and wife and family moved to San Francisco from here, after operating the Prospect garage for a couple of years. Heart trouble was the cause of the death, which occurred at Lebanon, Ore., Dec. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ditsworth visited friends at Cave Junction and Kerby and took a pleasure trip to Crescent City over the week-end.

Frank X. Jantzer, foreman of the Clare planing mill at Glendale, visited relatives here over last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Neece were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dawson at Trail.

Mountain lake, a government protected sanctuary for ducks and geese, is within the San Francisco Presidio.
