

CLAYPOOL WINS FINALIST PLACE IN SPEECH TEST

Robert Claypool won the right to compete in the finals for the coming oratorical contest now being sponsored by the Toastmaster clubs of the northwest during a meeting of the Medford club last night. His subject was "A Talk to a Young Man." He competed against G. L. Maxwell who gave a very forceful presentation of an extremely deep subject entitled "Egyptian Pyramids—Their Relationship to the Past and Present Life."

Guests for the evening dinner meeting were Doctor J. S. Hea-therington and Ivan Lantz of the U. S. postal service and recently returned from India.

Next Monday evening the meeting will be in charge of Vincent Smith, toastmaster; D. D. Davis, topicmaster; Jack Frost, critic. The principal competitors for the chance to participate in the finals along with Dr. Perkins and Robert Claypool, will be Dr. C. G. Van Valzah, Otto De Jarnett and Pat Graham.

Consideration is now being given by the club to a regular routine of study entitled "Speechcraft" and through which interest has been greatly stimulated by other clubs following its adoption as standard.

BUILDING FIRM FORMED HERE BY BREWER, PORTER

Formation of the firm of Brewer and Porter, builders, was announced today by Chauncey Brewer and Norris K. Porter of Medford. The new firm now has four houses under construction on Monroe street north of the senior high school building.

Both men recently returned to Medford, Brewer having worked during the war as an architectural engineer for Howard Hughes, Los Angeles airplane manufacturer, while Porter served with the 100th Naval Construction battalion, spending two years in the South Pacific during which time he served on Guam and the Marshall Islands, having participated in the invasion of the latter islands.

Porter states that the firm will do architectural work as well as construction and that preference will be given to veterans in the sale of homes which they construct. The Monroe street houses are to be constructed court-style and will each have three bedrooms.

Porter is residing at 1009 South Oakdale avenue with his wife and son.

Tires Stolen Off Applegate Truck

Thieves last Friday night stole three wheels with tires attached from a truck belonging to Edward Kubli of the Applegate district, while the vehicle was standing in front of his home. Kubli was in the house, and his five dogs were in the yard, when the tires were taken, but the theft was not discovered until the following morning. The key left in the truck was also stolen. Kubli "exonerated" one of the dogs, for not being alert. He is 17 years old, and stone deaf. The loss was reported to the state police.

DIVORCE AND CASH

Los Angeles, Jan. 29—(UP)—Mrs. Irene Glass today was awarded a $100,000 mansion and $350 a month alimony as part of her divorce decree. Her ex-husband got the gold-inlaid revolver with which he allegedly threatened her. Mrs. Glass was granted the divorce yesterday from Dr. Edwin B. Glass, wealthy San Francisco and Los Angeles gland specialist.

LOG LACK SLOWS DE ARMOND MILL

Jacksonville, Jan. 29—Inability to get a sufficient supply of logs is holding up operations at the DeArmond Lumber company mill east of here. Sawing, however, was resumed for three days last week after bad weather had forced a shut-down in December according to D. E. DeArmond, one of the partners of the firm.

Logs are being obtained from the Elk creek area.

DeArmond, who is an owner of the Lakeview Lumber company, states that the local mill cuts about 50,000 feet daily when running a full shift. Seven men are employed. Between September, when operations started, and December of last year the mill cut two and one-half million feet. The mill was moved here from Lakeview and installation began last April. Its operation is entirely electric. J. L. Minton, the other owner, declares.

DeArmond says that Lakeview's first sawmill was built by him in 1931.

PLANING MILL DOWN AT SUGAR PINE CO.

Central Point, Jan. 29—Planning mill operations at the Southern Oregon Sugar Pine company mill have halted because of shipping difficulties arising from the general strike situation, Chauncey Florey, mill owner, said Monday. Work may resume next Monday.

The planing mill has been running since January 7 following the strike settlement. Sawmill operations will start February 11, according to Florey.
