WATER
The question has been asked: Is water a food? As water has already been completely oxidized it cannot afford energy to the body. Yet it is essential to bodily functioning. Water forms about 80 per cent of the body weight. The younger the person is the greater is the percentage of water present. Water undergoes no change in the system, yet it is essential for the proper functioning of the bodily machine. It may compare somewhat to the lubricant of a mechanical device. As water plays an important part in metabolism it is rightly classed as a food. Chemical actions taking place within the body are more readily, completely and easily performed in solution. Water is a wonderful solvent. As water is continually being lost from the body it must be replaced. Naturopathic physicians have always recognized that people do not drink sufficient water.
