Swing Team Big Problem

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Professional football's a-borning National American league today turned its attention to the ticklish problem of setting up two divisions today after its mammoth draft of 390 college players.

The 13 teams must divide into separate circuits of six teams each—with the remaining club assigned a "swing schedule" against members of both divisions. That "swing" assignment was a big stumbling block because no one wanted it.

New Ideas Show Up

Originally it was planned to make Baltimore the swing team. However, new ideas crop up every minute the league is in session. Some club owners now want the Cleveland Browns to become the swing team because they are such a box-office draw, especially in national football league cities which never saw them during the operation of the defunct all-America conference. Other owners want each year's league champion to become the swing team the following season.

Should the 13 club owners fail to agree on a division by the required 11 to 2 vote, League Commissioner Bert Bell will step in and make the division personally. He was called upon to set up the draft rules after the owners squabbled fruitlessly over them for hours.

Baseball Clinic At K.F. On Feb. 4

Klamath Falls, Jan. 23.—Klamath Falls will be the site of one of four baseball clinics to be held in Oregon when instructors yet to be named meet here Saturday, February 4. It will be the only baseball clinic in southern Oregon.

Subjects to be considered will include conditioning, building offense and defense, building plate, pitfalls of batters, how to correct batting defects, base running, importance of hits, sliding, stealing, pitching and the like.

Every coach of an amateur team will be welcome with only a small cost being charged as registration fee.

Clinic will start in the morning and run straight through the day with breaks only for meals. There is no charge. Site of the clinic here probably will be the baseball park where the Klamath Gems of the pro Far West league play.

Rogue Basin Fishing Laws Tentatively Set By Group

Grants Pass, Jan. 23.—Tentative fishing regulations affecting the Rogue river remain primarily the same as in 1949, Cole Rivers, state game commission representative in southern Oregon, announced here Saturday.

Proposed changes include opening the Illinois river to silver salmon fishing from the mouth upstream to a point 400 feet below Pomeroy dam. A season on silvers is proposed from September 1 to November 30.

Illinois Season Set
Steelhead season was changed on the Illinois to open October 1 instead of December 15 as in 1949.

Daily bag-limits in the Rogue for salmon remain the same but the weekly limit was changed from four to five. All other open areas, seasons and limits remain unchanged for the Rogue basin, tentative regulations state.

Elimination of the Rogue regulation forbidding night-angling for catfish was considered but the regulation was retained for reasons of law enforcement.

Relative to Diamond lake, the 10-inch minimum size limit for the lake was dropped and the opening date set for June 1.

Salmon Card Issue
A salmon and steelhead limit card is proposed to limit the catch of steelhead and salmon over 20 inches long to 20 fish per year in all waters of Oregon. No split is contemplated for spring and fall fish, however.

Beavers to Play Idaho

New York, Jan. 23.—(U.P.)—Notre Dame's basketball team, which seldom loses at home, entertains the Kentucky Wildcats, who hardly ever lose any place, as college teams begin another light examination week schedule tonight with less than 10 major games.

Kentucky, with 13 sophomores on its squad, has lost to Georgia, Tennessee and St. John's of Brooklyn this season. However, the young Wildcats also have played at times like veteran Kentucky teams of other years.

Notre Dame may be the second team to discover that Coach Adolph Rupp meant 1950 not 1951 when he said in December that his club would be "pretty good next year."

Other Games
Tuesday—Oregon State-Idaho. Thursday—St. Francis-St. John's; Bradley-Tulsa.

Friday—USC-San Francisco; UCLA-Santa Barbara; Oregon-Washington; St. Mary's-Arizona; Kansas-Iowa State; Utah-Wyoming; Colorado Aggies-Denver.

couldn't afford to pass up the match that he agreed to it. Davidson will donate his share of the purse to Lipscomb and Lillard will likewise give the Willamette valley tangle his net of the gate receipts.

One newcomer and another who hasn't been here for many years will also be on the card. The one who hasn't been here for a long time is Lee Grable of Los Angeles who will meet Georges Dusette in the 45 minute semi-windup.

The newcomer is Leo Wallick of Detroit, a specialist with the sign later today, in the 30-minute curtain raiser, starting at piledriver maneuver. He meets a foe which Lillard expected to 8:30 p.m.

The game commission will meet January 27 at Portland to make any adjustments in the tentative regulations and adopt the final angling laws for this year.
