Coal Being Replaced In Many Industries

Washington, Jan. 26—(U.P.)—Government and industry figures showed today that coal is being replaced by other fuels to an increasing extent in homes and industry because of the uncertainty of supplies.

During the past 10 years, the use of oil for home heat has more than doubled while coal use has declined 27 per cent from its wartime peak.

In industry too, particularly the railroads, coal is being replaced by oil and gas. Railroad officials said the coal-burning locomotives are being replaced by diesel electric engines "wherever possible, or economically feasible."

Unrest Major Factor
Government officials would not blame the decline on coal use on any one factor, but cited the continued mine labor unrest as "a major contributing factor to the uncertainty of supply which faces both home owners and industries."

Another factor by the government and industry sources for the switch away from coal is the "ease of use" of oil or gas.

"When you've an oil or gas burner," one oil industry spokesman said, "you don't have to haul out ashes. It's easier, and that's one major reason many home owners are switching."

Steel industry has always been the heaviest user of coal. It still is, since steel-making requires coke and carbon. But even in the steel industry some furnaces once fed by coal are now burning oil, according to an oil industry source.

Utilities Experiment
Another major user of coal has been the electrical utility industry. Here there has been a marked tendency during the past year to "experiment" with gas and oil. The federal power commission reported that many major electrical utilities, including some in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Connecticut and the Chicago area, have tried using both gas and oil during the past year in addition to or as replacement for coal.

"They have installed duplicate equipment, so that on an hour's notice they can switch from coal to either oil or gas," the FPC reported. "In some instances they are using coal during the week and oil or gas on week-ends, to cut down their costs. Some have switched from 100 per cent coal to using no coal at all."

The Consolidated Edison company, New York, one of the nation's largest utilities, reported that availability at all times and a "stable labor situation in the oil industry" are the major reasons for the company's shift away from coal.

Farmers Of Texas Lead Nation In Dollar Earnings

Washington, Jan. 26—(U.P.)—Iowa farmers, long heralded as the nation's richest, have dropped behind Texas and California growers in dollar earnings, the agricultural department reported today.

The department said Texas topped all states in money collected by farmers from marketings of farm products during January-November, 1949. California ran second.

Iowa Third
Down in third place were Iowa's farmers, who led the field with an all-time record high cash total in 1947. Iowa was barely edged out for the lead by California in 1948.

For the nation as a whole, 1949 farm marketings brought farmers about 10 per cent less cash than the previous year, and drop is continuing. The department estimated today that farmers this month will get about 10 per cent less from marketings than they received during January, 1948.

As for 1949, officials said the final state-by-state total of farmers' cash receipts for the entire 12 months probably will not be compiled for another month. The final figures are not expected to challenge Texas' leadership.

First Time For Texas
It was believed to be the first time that Texas led the field. In the previous nine years, Iowa had held first place four times, California five times.

Texas jumped from third to first place with a record 1949 cotton crop. This came at a time when prices for hogs—Iowa's principal farm market item—had fallen considerably below 1948 levels. Texas was the only major farm state in which 1949 cash receipts exceeded 1948.

Rex Putnam Files For Re-Election
Salem, Ore., Jan. 26—(U.P.)—Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, today filed his candidacy for re-election.

His ballot slogan will be: "Incumbent since 1937. Best in education for all youth."

Putnam will run on a nonpartisan ballot to be voted in conjunction with the May primary election.

Phoenix Grange
There was a large attendance at the January 24 meeting of the Phoenix Grange. Initiated in first and second degrees were Mr. and Mrs. Korth.

Members were reminded the membership drive closes March 31.

Visitors were Master John Gray of Gold Hill Grange, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron and Mrs. Maude Martin.

H. E. C. chairman named the next Grange serving committee to be Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, Harry Reames and Echo Alford. A cleaning day was set for Friday, January 27, at 10 a. m. All attending should bring a sack lunch and cleaning material. H. E. C. will meet February 15 at the home of Mrs. Dee Hendrickson, 155 E. Stewart, for covered dish luncheon.

Ways and means committee announced an old-time dance January 28 with music by Keener's orchestra. H. E. C. ladies will furnish refreshments.

The lecturer has plans for open house meeting February 7 at the Grange hall at 8 p. m. Members were asked to bring sandwiches or cookies.

There will be a soil conservation meeting here Thursday, January 26, at 8 p. m. A meeting of peach growers is scheduled for February 7 at 1:30 p. m. at Grange hall.

Phoenix Grange will sponsor a fund-raising project for the March of Dimes the evening of January 31, the place to be announced later.

The master thanked the first and second degree team, musicians and all committees for their faithful work in the tabernacle, singing, decoration and the Texas Star rural folk dance.

Slight Losses In State Employment Picture Recorded

Salem, Ore., Jan. 26—(U.P.)—Although manufacturing employment in Oregon in December was 1,400 more than a year before, slight losses in construction and service industries brought the number of all non-farm jobs down to 416,200, the state unemployment compensation commission reported today.

That showed a drop of 2,700 from December of 1948. A gain of 5,900 in lumber or wood products employment was responsible for the higher industrial figure.

The new series of employment estimates, based upon current reports of a representative sample of employers all over Oregon, was prepared under a co-operative program recently entered into by the commission and the U. S. bureau of labor statistics.

About 30 per cent of Oregon's non-farm workers were employed in manufacturing—with one industry—lumbering—accounting for 73,700 or 60.2 per cent of the 122,500 total.

Other durable goods, including furniture, machinery and metals, declined slightly during the year. Little change between November and December was shown by "other manufacturing" with lumber and canning and preserving accounting for the seasonal drop of 7,400. Printing and publishing was the only non-durable group to report more jobs than the previous month or year.

Holiday hiring by retail trade and governmental agencies was responsible for a 30-day gain of 2,300 in non-manufacturing lines, although the total of 293,700 was 4,100 below December, 1948. The Christmas mail rush added 2,500 persons and merchants hired 3,200 additional.

Seasonal layoffs in construction affected 2,100 workers. The December report of 20,900 was 2,400 lower than a year before.

Transportation and utility employment was estimated at 43,000 in December, a decline of 600 from the previous month and 2,800 from a year ago. Most of the decrease came from interstate railroads and transportation services, while utilities reported 1,000 fewer workers.

Mayor Gives Up Fight For Peddlers' Tax

Portland, Ore., Jan. 26—(U.P.)—Mayor Dorothy McCollough Lee today gave up her fight to levy a $25 tax on non-residents doing business within the city limits of Portland.

The mayor, at a council meeting, moved that the proposed tax be filed and given no further consideration. The motion was adopted unanimously by the council.

Earlier, the council—in a sweeping economy move to meet emergency financial problems—slashed a total of $599,086 from items budgeted for expenditure during the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Perhaps He Didn't Look At The Check

Seattle, Jan. 26—(U.P.)—Police have arrested a bad check artist after working with "one of the slimmest description ever given."

The man who was billed said he couldn't remember what the lady felon looked like. "All I remember was that low, low neckline," he said.

Contributions to the Gandhi Memorial fund have reached to $21,595.572.
