Mr. and Mrs. H. C. High, longtime friends of the Williams, received at the door and also greeting friends with the couple were Mrs. Williams' sister, Miss Verna Gilmore of Sacramento, Cal., and Mr. Williams' sister, Mrs. H. F. Ellison of Lincoln, Neb. The Rev. and Mrs. Meredith A. Groves also received with them.

Baskets of snapdragons, yellow daffodils and stock, tied with gold ribbon, decorated the rooms for the event.

Stork Club Owner Says Men Prefer Simple Food

New York (U.P.)—You can abandon your struggles with the specialty cook books. If it's a man's heart you're after.

Men still prefer simple and solid dishes like beef stew and corned beef and cabbage, according to Sherman Billingsley and his chef, Gabriel Beaumont.

Billingsley, owner of the Stork Club, hit on a successful formula for keeping everybody satisfied. He feeds the men beef stew and hands out perfume to the ladies.

He figures he gives away more than 100 gallons of his perfume. Sortilege, every year. And the chef has lost track of the number of onions that go into a year's beef stew supply.

"The hardest thing I ever had to do was to get my French chef to add beef stew and corned beef and cabbage to the menu," Billingsley said. Beaumont is an artistic Frenchman who prefers the word "create" to the word "cook."

Beaumont did manage to add a slightly continental touch to the beef stew. He used a recipe which he said came from the French province of Burgundy. But he stuck to the simple American method of preparing corned beef and cabbage.

On request, Beaumont carefully wrote out both his recipes in French, then took a French-English dictionary and translated them.

New Plastic Upholstery Recently Put On Market

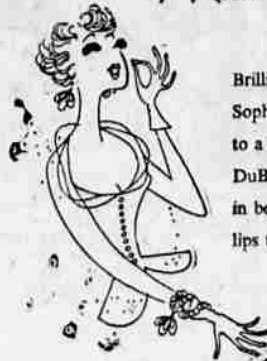

New York (U.P.)—Plastic upholstery in a surprisingly realistic range of colors and patterns has just been put on the market. With a dulled finish and a full range of colors, the manufacturers (The Bolta company) have managed to reproduce regular fabric effects.

One of the new patterns is a satin-stripe effect in tones of blue, gray and maroon. Another combination displayed on a modern sofa is a floral pattern with an aqua blue background and shades of brown in the print.

Sophisticated designs are used in many spokesmen said it would be the plastic upholstery as well as available also through department stores by the yard, selling ready-made furniture, and a com- yard.
