2-Minute Cage Rule Abandoned In League

Portland, Ore., Feb. 1.—(U.P.)—This year's controversial two-minute rule goes out the window beginning Friday night for Northwest conference basketball teams following yesterday's adoption of the modified Big Ten version of the rule.

Announcement of the change followed a telephonic poll of conference coaches by Linfield coach Paul Durham, president of the Conference Coaches' association.

Five Favor Change
Durham said five of the six conference schools favored the switch to two free throws given on all defensive fouls in the last two minutes. The ball goes out of bounds to the fouling team if the second shot is good but it remains in play if the shot is missed.

The controversial two minute rule gives possession of the ball to the fouled team during the last 120 seconds regardless of whether the free throw is good or bad.

The Evergreen and Metropolitan basketball squads in the New York area also have joined with the Big Ten in revising the two minute rule.

Beavers Vie With Huskies At Corvallis

Corvallis, Feb. 1.—The closest rivalry in northern division basketball will be renewed for the first time this season Friday and Saturday in Gill coliseum when Washington invades for a two-night stand.

Both will start at 8 p.m. Saturday's game will be the featured event of Dad's day on the Oregon State campus and more than 2,000 fathers are expected.

Reserve seats for this contest are already sold out and only slightly over a hundred remain for the series opener. General admission tickets will be sold at the gates starting at 7 p.m. each night.

Over the years the Husky-Beaver hoop warfare has been an exciting, nip and tuck affair with one of the two teams more often than not winning the division championship. Washington has won from the Orange 73 times and Oregon State 67.

In the last four seasons, however, St. Gill's Orangemen have won 11 to only six for the Huskies.

Eagles Announce Schedule Change

Eagle Point, Feb. 1.—Several changes in the Eagle Point high basketball schedule due to postponement of games and agreements with opponents were announced today by Coach Shirley Callaghan. Eagle Point plays at Ashland Friday and Myrtle Creek here Saturday.

Other games will send Grants Pass to Eagle Point on Tuesday, February 7, Eagles at Medford February 10, Eagles at Klamath Falls February 15, Kerby at Eagle Point February 21, Medford at Eagle Point February 24, Central Point at Eagle Point February 28 and Eagles at Grants Pass March 3.

Eagle Point, Myrtle Creek, Kerby and Central Point are in the J-D-J league in which the Eagles are undefeated. All but Kerby and Myrtle Point are in the Southern Oregon class A conference and district 4.

OSC Frosh Basketball Team Slates 2 Games

Corvallis, Feb. 1.—Paul Valenti's strong OSC freshman basketball team, winner in three of its first four starts, goes into action two times late this week against a trio of the top prep fives in the western half of the state.

The Beaver yearlings are home for a pair of week-end contests in Gill coliseum. Friday Bob Mulder will bring his Central Catholic of Portland to Corvallis for a game starting at 4 p.m.

A game with Lebanon high Saturday at 2 p.m. will complete the week's slate.

The Rochester Royals, mainly because of their well-rounded attack, still were giving the Minneapolis Lakers a hard fight for the central division leadership in the National Basketball association today.

Jack Coleman helped carry the load last night by tipping in 18 points in the Royals' 85 to 72 victory over the Boston Celtics. In a doubleheader at Chicago, the Fort Wayne Pistons dumped the Chicago Stags, 93 to 89, after the Tri-City Black Hawks whipped the New York Knickerbockers, 83 to 77.

At Denver, Jack Nichols tallied 22 points in pacing the Washington Capitols to an 88 to 78 victory over the hapless Nuggets.
