Raiders Box On Thursday

Ashland, Feb. 22—Southern Oregon college boxers will tangle with Chico State college leather pushers in the SOC gym Thursday at 8 p.m. in a Far Western conference intercollegiate show as the Red Raiders try to get back some of the glory lost the last time the two colleges battled.

Earlier this season the Chico Wildcats drubbed the Raiders in matches held in the California city but since then the SOC boxers have improved considerably.

Losing to the powerful San Francisco State crew only by default, the SOC boxers have shown amazing capabilities and with more experience will be in a position to give much better account of themselves here Thursday evening.

Coach Art Acker of Chico boasts of a pair of heavyweights as "aces in the hole." They are Nick Floratos of Redding, a conference titleholder, and Mel Dalrymple of Chico.

Air Warning System Along Entire Coast 'Soon As Possible'

San Francisco, Feb. 22—(U.P.)—Two air force generals said today an air raid warning and aircraft spotting system will go in to effect "as soon as possible" for the entire Pacific Coast area.

Maj. Gen. Hugo P. Rush, commander of the western air defense force, and his deputy, Gen. William M. Morgan, said the states had been asked to recruit volunteers for the systems.

Rush said that 20,000-25,000 volunteers would be needed to man California stations alone.

He emphasized that an air defense system is "already in being" and is becoming "more active day by day."

Plans already underway call for establishment of two separate systems, one is an aircraft spotting and identification system and the other a civil air raid warning service.

The command has asked a budget of $180,000 for the operation of the program.

The CASE of the GAMBLER

● Heavy gambling debts faced Jack Doe. He decided to mortgage his home. Not wanting his wife to know about his gambling, he persuaded another woman to sign the mortgage as his wife.

● Later, Mrs. Doe learned of the mortgage and proved the forgery. The lender, in this case, had had the title to the mortgaged property insured. The title insurance company took an assignment of the mortgage and worked out a settlement with Jack Doe and his wife. Without title insurance, the lender would have suffered a serious financial loss.

Whether buying real estate or loaning money on real property... protect your investment with a "T and T" title insurance policy.
