President Announces Oregon Federation Scholarship Winner

Miss Aida Fabiero, graduate of the University of the Philippines at Manila, has been selected by the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women as this year's Oriental scholarship winner, the federation announces.

Mrs. Charles L. Edwards of Philomath, president of the federation, announced the arrival of the young Filipino, who already is enrolled for graduate study at Oregon State college. The scholarship, given each year by the federation, is for $800 and is given to a woman of some Oriental nation for study in Home Economics and extension service work.

Selection of the scholarship student is made each year by Miss Ava B. Milam, dean of OCS's school of home economics, who was the inspiration for the scholarship plan. Dean Milam is familiar with the Oriental scene and has taught home economics in the Orient. She met Miss Fabiero last year in Manila during a tour of Oriental countries.

Miss Fabiero was in extension work for the Philippine government before she came to the United States. Her scholarship will enable her to study at Oregon State college until next winter, when she will return to the islands to continue in extension work. During her stay in Oregon she plans to travel throughout the state to observe the workings of the extension service here. She also will be willing to speak to groups, concerning her native land, and arrangements are being made to bring her to Grants Pass and Medford later this year.

The award was given to the young Filipino woman at a tea held in her honor at the home of Miss Milam. In presenting the scholarship, Mrs. Edwards said: "Our BPW club's international relations project, exemplified by this scholarship, is our investment in peace."

Miss Fern Trull of Grants Pass, international relations chairman for the state federation, worked with Dean Milam to arrange Miss Fabiero's coming. She is the first Philippine woman to receive the award; other scholarships have been given to Korean and Chinese women.
