

Army To Alter Dress Designs For Women

By Barbara Bundschu
United Press Correspondent

Fort Jay, Governor's Island, N. Y., Feb. 25—(U.P.)—The army got set today to take neckties off its women, tilt their hats, and dress them up in a way decreed by Hattie Carnegie.

The new uniform for WACS army nurses and the women's medical specialist corps had its world's premier at first army headquarters here.

Toupe Shade
The uniform, which will become regulation in January, 1935, replace olive-drab with a softer taupe shade.

A group of Medford high school students attended the Oregon International Relations League conference in Eugene February 24 and 25. Raoul Maddox, Lee Stothers, Jim Grey, Jim Gleason, Pat Crow and Susan Drummond made up the delegation. They were accompanied by Alex McDonald, teacher of social studies.

Fidella Boone and Pat Lemmon were delegates to the state Future Homemakers of America conference held on the campus of Oregon State college. The conference was held February 16, 17 and 18. "Together We Make Progress" was the years' convention theme.

The purposes discussed were those which, when combined, create wholesome, successful family life. Dr. Lester Kirkendall of the college led a panel discussion emphasizing the importance of worthy home membership.

Miss Aylene Hopkins, Medford, Oregon State college student and past state president, presided at the banquet held February 17. Theme of the banquet was "International Good Will."

Miss Boone wrote and took part in a skit entitled "What This Meeting Has Meant to Us," presented February 18.

Miss Hazel Hatley of the high school home economics staff and Mrs. F. W. Hopkins accompanied Miss Boone and Miss Lemmon.

Medford senior high school chapter of Future Homemakers of America elected the following officers for 1935-36 at a recent meeting: President, Pat Lemmon; vice-president, Colleen Atterbury; secretary, Phyllis Fisch; treasurer, Donna Mullin; parliamentarian, Barbara Razon; historian, Ruth Griffith; song leader, Kay McCannahan; pianist, Harriet Dowson.

History, Economics and Civics association presented the annual George Washington day assembly in the auditorium February 25. Jun Collins gave a brief talk on Washington and Lincoln.

Miss Barbara Manley, HECA president, introduced Harold Stieler, German exchange student from Southern Oregon college, who was the main speaker. He explained some of the differences between the German and American educational systems, pointing out that a German student attends high school for eight years. He stated that high school students pay tuition and have no choice in their subjects.

If a pupil fails in two subjects, he must repeat the whole year in all subjects taken that year, and if he fails again in any two subjects for that year's work he is expelled from school. Once expelled from any one high school, he cannot enter another.

The band, under the direction of L. A. Mirick, played "American Patrol" and "Confidence."

Three accordion numbers by Max Peirce highlighted the last pep assembly of this year held February 24 at 3 p. m. in the boys' gymnasium. A group of band leaders, including Dale Coverstone, Keith Mirick, Walter Kendall, Dale Davis, Bill Bradford, Leonard Walsh, Henry Padgham, Doug Brannock and Bernie Rawstern, gave two jazz numbers.

As the result of several requests, the whole band serenaded Dick Bottjer with "Happy Birthday."

Legion Sponsors Meet To Consider Dangers Imposed By Cold War

Portland, Ore., Feb. 25—(U.P.)—The American Legion today sponsored a western area national security and counter-subversive activity conference to consider potential dangers posed by the "cold war."

The meetings were closed. Representatives attending the conference included Benjamin Gitlow, former general secretary of the U. S. communist party; W. C. Tom Sawyer, director of Americanism of the American Legion; Larry Kerley, former espionage investigator for the federal bureau of investigation; Brig. Gen. R. A. McClure and Brig. Gen. T. O. Hardin.

Local Stores Plan Big Spring Opening To Be Held Friday

Medford's streets will be peopled with a number of well-turned-out models Friday if the plans of the chamber of commerce are realized.

Male and female models, sponsored by stores of all types, will be on the streets in the business district between 7 and 8 p. m. on the evening of the opening. Each of them will have one merchandise award which will be presented to the first person that identifies the model.

The award will be good at the show sponsored the model.

A highlight of the spring opening will be the automobile and farm equipment show sponsored by the Medford Automobile Dealers association under the supervision of A. F. Claus, president. Bartlett street between Sixth and Main streets and between Main and Eighth streets will be roped off by the police department for the exclusive use of the show.

The Medford high school band will furnish music from various parts of the downtown area during the evening.

Details for the festivities have been worked out by a special committee consisting of John P. Moffat and Howard J. Boyd. Overall arrangements are being handled by the retail trade committee of the chamber of commerce under the chairmanship of Robert Agard.

659,063 Vehicles Now Registered In Oregon

Salem, Ore., Feb. 25—(U.P.)—A final check shows that 1949 Oregon motor vehicle registrations totaled 659,063, a gain of nearly 10 per cent over 1948. Secretary of State Earl T. Newberry reported today.

Passenger cars totaled 498,588. Other classifications were pickups, 70,840; busses, 2,489; trucks, 79,763; and motorcycles, 7,373. Only busses showed a decline.

News of 4-H CLUBS

Howard 4-H Club

The club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Barnes recently. Benston Faby gave a report on beef calf selection and Glenda Martin on sheep selection. Both reports included diagrams, which were turned over to the acting secretary for future use.

A clean-up committee including Donald Price and Norman Barnes was appointed to help clean up at each meeting. Charles Flanagan and Nancy Barnes were named chairmen of the recreation committee.

The club discussed having banners for stock pens next year, and it was decided that Benston Faby and Glenda Martin would price canvas and plywood, and report at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey, March 21.

Northwest Hay Market Steady During Week

Pacific northwest hay markets held steady this past week and carlot shipments have picked up, according to the weekly commercial feedstuffs and hay review prepared by the Oregon State college extension service.

Supplies are mostly from southern Idaho, the review said. The price range for No. 2 green alfalfa or better continues at $35.50 to $41. Trading at Portland is "a little slow."

Supplies in the producing areas of Oregon and Washington are reported low with growers holding at firm prices. The range is $29 to $32 a ton baled at the ranch for U. S. No. 2 green or better alfalfa. Portland prices, depending on sources, are mostly unchanged to $8.50 less than a year ago.

California hay markets are continuing a slow downward price trend. Both the San Francisco and Los Angeles alfalfa markets are unchanged to a dollar lower than a week ago.

Northwest Airplanes On 7,000 Mile Tour

Portland, Ore., Feb. 25—(U.P.)—More than 50 airplanes piloted by Pacific northwest airmen left Troutdale airport today on a 7,000-mile goodwill tour to Havana, Cuba.

The planes are to be joined by others in enroute until the total reaches an expected 82, with some 240 persons aboard.
