League Announces March Meeting Saturday Afternoon

During the meeting which will follow Mrs. Lloyd Bransford will speak on "Youth Authority." A study of the youth authorities used in several states of the Union, particularly California, is being made by one item on the state program. ## Washington City Announces Exhibit Of Wertz Paintings

An exhibit of 64 paintings by Fritz Wertz, Gold Hill artist, will be shown at the Larson Museum and Gallery in the Yakima Valley Junior college from March 5 to March 24, according to an announcement from Paul B. Allen Jr., a member of the board of directors of the junior college and the museum.

Mr. Allen and Guy Brace, curator of the museum, are making arrangements for a reception and tea to be given for Mr. and Mrs. Wertz who plan to visit in Yakima during the show.

Mr. Wertz states that the 64 pictures, all water colors, will include the 24 Gold Hill oil-timer portraits which have brought much favorable comment for the artist at past exhibits. Also included will be one titled "Rogue River Pack Trip," "The Artist's Wife," five ranch scenes of Ernie Lyman's famous old Rogue river ranch and scenes of Jim Cornutt's historical ranch which was at one time a stopping place for the old stagecoach on the road between Gold Hill and Jacksonville.

Several Jacksonville scenes will also be shown, including a Main street scene, the historic Beekman bank, Redman hall, the fire hall and others. Two paintings of Fernwell's farm on Sam's creek will be included, and paintings of the historical old Bideye ranch on Rogue river. One of these includes the back porch of the home and a grape arbor said to be 94 years old.

The artist's show also includes paintings of the Jim Smith ranch on Sardine creek, the J. W. Harrison and Bryan ranches on Gall's creek, the George Black place up Nugget gulch and scenes on the Oregon coast.

Thirty-five of the 64 paintings have been completed by Mr. Wertz in the last six months.

Medford Woman Plays Exhibition With Bridge Expert

Friends of Mrs. T. J. Fuson, well known Medford contract bridge player, yesterday related how Mrs. Fuson recently experienced the excitement of playing an exhibition hand with Oswald Jacoby, noted bridge player from the east.

The exhibition was played during the recent regional session of the National All-Western Mixed Pair bridge tournament in Portland. Making up the table for the hand were Mrs. Fuson, Mr. Jacoby, Mrs. Sam Gordon, wife of the well known Portland bridge teacher, and Mrs. Fuson's tournament partner, Mr. Stumpf.

The exhibition hand was played during one of the single session events. All other play was stopped and the Medford woman played the hand while several rows of kibitzers pressed around to watch. When the hand was finished, Mrs. Fuson was commended highly for the manner in which the hand was played, her friends reported.

Mr. Jacoby was in Portland to give a series of card lessons. Mrs. Fuson plays with the Medford Duplicate Bridge club and often enters tournaments, both in Oregon and in California. Mrs. R. J. Conroy, with whom she plays much of the time in the local sessions and tournaments, was one of the high-ranking winners in the Portland tournament.
